Six checks reported missing from city treasurer's office

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart has initiated a full-scale investigation into six missing city checks, all signed by Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz' check-signing machine, and made out to a secretary he (Lewkowicz) may have hired illegally.

According to Larry Moore, city accountant, four of the checks have been returned cancelled from the bank, while the two remaining checks had not shown up as of press time.

The mayor directed Robert Reese, city attorney, to look into the matter after he, Lewkowicz, City Clerk Leonard Folmar and City Council had been informed of the missing checks by a memorandum from Moore.

The six missing checks were first discovered Thursday by Linda Brooks, an accounting clerk, who was engaged in reconciling the payroll account. Not only were the six checks missing, but the stubs corresponding to the checks, had been ripped out of the city's payroll account checkbook.

In his memorandum, Moore had recommended to the mayor that an independent auditing firm be employed to probe the six checks missing from the payroll account checkbook. However, after contacting a certified public accountant, Moore was advised the matter at this stage was in the hands of the city attorney.

The CPA further advised Moore that it would be "a waste of money" for the CPA to verify what Moore had already uncovered, but that if requested at a later date, he would testify as an expert witness on the results of his personal investigation.

Moore said a special council meeting called for last night would include what action council would take in regard to ordering a probe of the missing checks.

Subsequent investigation by Miss Brooks disclosed that checks and their stubs, numbered consecutively, as No. 3834, No. 3835, No. 3836, No. 3858, No. 3859 and No. 3860 had been removed from the payroll checkbook.

Appraised of the situation, Moore notified the city attorney and then sent a memorandum to Stewart, Lewkowicz and Folmar.

The four cancelled checks totalled $547.23. Dates, amounts and check numbers are: July 8 - $188.13, No. 3834; July 19 - $107.28, No. 3835; July 22 - $131.70, No. 3836; and July 28 - $120.12, No. 3858.

As of press time, no trace of checks No. 3859 and No. 3860 had been uncovered.

"While the checkbook was in my possession, I turned it over to the city clerk with the checks still missing, in order to make a full disclosure, as I am obligated to do when I find an irregularity," Moore wrote in his memorandum sent to Council, Stewart, Folmar, Lewkowicz and the Payroll Dept.

Moore's letter continued: "The checks that were cashed were signed by the treasurer's check-signing machine.

"Since there were no funds available in the payroll account for additional personnel, if the checks should have been for services rendered, the federal state and social security reports for that period would be incorrect.

"Since it is not possible for payroll to account for this money, we need an immediate investigation by an outside auditing firm."

Four of the checks were made out to and cashed by Renee Ann Dembinski, who has been working in the treasurer's office although she was not hired through normal personnel procedures. She is not considered an employee of the city by the personnel department.

Personnel Director Sandy Spjut verified that Miss Dembinski had been brought to her office on June 23, by Deputy Treasurer Pat Geldmacher for her pre-employment physical.

However, Mrs. Spjut said she told both of them that she did not have authorization to hire Miss Dembinski. Therefore, Miss Dembinski did not go through the normal process of getting a physical, filling out forms for state and federal taxes, or filling out forms for life and health insurance.

Mayor Stewart also said city council was amiss in approving pay for Miss Dembinski.

"I think they (council) went off the deep end," Stewart said. "What they did was actually illegal. There was no money budgeted for the payment and they didn't state how much and under which classification she would be."

Moore further pointed out that the treasurer's payroll account was overdrawn $456 at the end of the fiscal year June 30.

Even though city council unanimously approved on July 12 that Miss Dembinski be paid for services rendered, a check was issued to her and cashed on July 8, four days before authorization.

Council, treasurer explain

Council members differ on okay to pay clerk

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

The controversy over the hiring of a clerk 02 for the treasurer's office just will not go away.

Initially, a dispute arose between Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz and Mayor James C. Stewart, and City Council was placed right in the middle.

Lewkowicz contended he had the right, according to the budget, to hire the clerk 02. Stewart replied that only he had the authority to employ the girl, and so the girl — Renee Anne Dembinski, the innocent object of the controversy — worked about three weeks without being paid.

When city council on July 12 authorized Miss Dembinski to be paid, it seemed the matter was resolved. But, like so many other issues in Romulus, this one was not.

And while council agrees, in principle, that the motion was to "assure that the girl gets paid", they differ on who should have paid her.

Miss Dembinski has been paid six checks, the first one issued and cashed on July 8, four days before city council authorized payment to her.

Lewkowicz had admitted writing all six checks to the clerk he hired and told ANP Managing Editor Dennis Fassett he took the stubs from the checkbook "because I didn't want anyone to destroy those records."

(See Fassett's sidebar story recounting Lewkowicz' version of the check-writing controversy).

At the July 12 meeting, Councilmen Jimmie Raspberry and William Oakley discussed publicly how the motion should be worded. They publicly said at the time that the meaning of the motion was to the effect that "the employee in question be paid".

However, Raspberry and Oakley differ somewhat as to what was meant by the motion.

"I believe there was a place for a Clerk 02 in Mr. Lewkowicz' budget for 1976-77," said Raspberry, explaining his motion. "Since her classification had been budgeted she should have been paid."

Raspberry said he understood Goldie Eaton (the phone operator) had been granted leave time and that the new employee would be compensated from the budget that paid for Mrs. Eaton's position.

"Basically, the intent was to see her (Miss Dembinski) paid," Raspberry continued. "I'm not taking sides in this, but I don't see any difference in paying the former girl or the new one. I'm not saying John is right, but I am saying he was right in paying the girl."

Oakley's understanding was that the motion was to see that the girl was paid, not that Lewkowicz should pay her.

"The girl has worked there and should not be deprived of her money," Oakley said. "It was my understanding that the girl would be paid through normal procedures enacted by the administration."

Councilman Bob Martin agreed with Oakley's position.

"The only thing we agreed on was to pay the girl," Martin said.

Headed that the council couldn't act on department head's interpretations nor take their authority away.

"It's not our position to say who's right. I understand it's still an issue between the two (Stewart and Lewkowicz)," Martin said.

Councilwoman Beverly McAnally said: "I don't recall that we went into the procedure (of how the girl should be paid). It's my feeling that the wishes of the council were to see that the girl got paid."

The councilwoman said she didn't have any information about the present check-writing controversy when she was contacted by the Roman Monday night.

"If there was any problem with the normal processing of time cards and issuance of paychecks by the payroll department, I imagine that Mr. Lewkowicz would have felt it was his responsibility to see the employee was paid," Mrs. McAnally said.

"It's my feeling that an innocent person should not be made a scapegoat because of animosities at City Hall."

Treasurer tells why he made out checks

By D.G. FASSETT
ANP Managing Editor

"The whole issue is completely ridiculous. If they had a problem (with the missing checks), they should have contacted me, and not the newspapers."

So said Romulus Treasurer John Lewkowicz when questioned by the Roman concerning the six missing checks, discovered during a routine reconciling of the payroll account.

The six checks, all pulled from inside the payroll account check book, along with their matching stubs, were discovered missing by Linda Brooks, accounting clerk. Following her discovery, she immediately informed Larry Moore, accounting supervisor for the city.

Moore stated that it is general procedure for an accounting department to request an outside audit when both checks and their matching stubs are missing from an account check book.

"At school we are taught that such a missing combination usually indicates theft," said Moore.

According to Lewkowicz, "I had requested that the check for payment to Renee Dembinski be paid to her following council approval. I asked Helen Gallien, Mayor Stewart, and Sandy Spjut to prepare the check, but all three refused."

The authorization in the council minutes, referred to by Lewkowicz (see accompanying story), was as follows: "July 12, 1977. Item 77-405-6D1; Motion by Raspberry, supported by Oakley, to pay the office clerk 02, Renee Dembinski, in the Treasurer's Office. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Raspberry, Oakley, Martin, Canejo. McAnally, Lee, Block, Nays - none. Motion carried unanimously."

But, according to several council members contacted by the Roman, the intent of the motion was only to assure Miss Dembinski that she would be paid for her services to Romulus. "It was not," said Councilman William Oakley, "a directive to Lewkowicz to pay her."

When asked why the first check issued to Miss Dembinski had been written and cashed on July 8, some four days prior to the supposed authorization by council, Lewkowicz replied, "Renee had not been paid for three weeks and was desperate."

According to Lewkowicz, Renee Dembinski had been hired in early June, and because of the administration's refusal to pay her, "I placed myself on the council agenda for the meeting of July 12, for the purpose of discussing this issue. At that meeting I informed council that I had already paid Miss Dembinski. There was no objection by council."

Lewkowicz continued, "I am the treasurer of Romulus and Renee Dembinski is one of my employees. There are people who are attempting to take over the treasurer's office with absolutely no authority, it is my opinion that all of this is politically motivated."

In spite of the fact that the first check issued to Miss Dembinski was dated four days prior to the council action on that issue, and was apparently illegal, Lewkowicz maintained that none of his actions were improper.

Lewkowicz stated that the remaining two of the six checks he removed from the payroll check book should be clearing the bank shortly. Those two checks dated in August were also made out to Miss Dembinski in the amount of $131.70 each.

Metro bike tour skirts museums and mills

(This is the 11th in a series of 15 weekly articles on bicycle touring through Michigan. These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and promote bicycling near population centers.)

Bicycling past museums and along boulevards through tree-shaded parks skirting steel mills and skyscrapers is a unique way to view diversified metropolitan Detroit, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

An 86-mile loop through the nation's sixth largest city and 16 of its suburbs contrasts quiet neighborhoods and deer-filled woods with industrial complexes that are among the world's largest.

This city tour passes by nationally and internationally known attractions such as Greenfield Village, the Detroit Zoo, an ever-expanding Cultural Center and through downtown Detroit with its towering Renaissance Center.

Bicyclists who begin the tour on Detroit's Belle Isle can take a 6-mile loop around the 1,000-acre, heavily wooded island park in the Detroit River where wild deer roam.

Island exhibits include the Aquarium and flower conservatory, both open daily; the Dossin Great Lakes Museum, open Wednesdays through Sundays; Scott Fountain and the Children's Zoo, open daily in summer.

There is a public beach and plenty of picnic space, and shipwatchers will want to travel slowly along the south shore where freighters can be seen close up.

Two miles west on Jefferson from the island's entrance on East Grand Boulevard is the huge glass-walled Renaissance Center, boasting the world's tallest hotel — a 70-story waterfront centerpiece which is one of five cylindrical buildings. Nearby are famed Ford Auditorium, the Veterans Memorial Building, Cobo Hall and its 11,000-seat arena and Dodge Fountain, which is under construction.

The city's Cultural Center two miles north of the river on Woodward is home for the Detroit Institute of Arts, the nation's largest municipally owned museum, and the Main Library across the street, which boasts the country's largest automotive collection.

Victorian "gingerbread" buildings and the stunning modern classrooms seen from the library's west entrance are just part of the sprawling Wayne State University campus, the state's largest urban university. Other points of interest include the Detroit Historical Museum, the International Institute and the Children's Museum.

From Woodward, head west on Grand Boulevard back to Jefferson and the riverfront, where two parks near the 41-year-old Ambassador Bridge make perfect picnic spots.

A mile west, on Jefferson, street names like Dragoon and Hussar announce Ft. Wayne Military Museum, which overlooks Canada and is considered the best preserved pre-Civil War fort in the Midwest. Built in the 1840s, it is open Thursdays through Mondays.

Past Detroit's ship terminals along Jefferson, the pungent smell of sulphur fills the air near Zug Island, where huge blast furnaces are used in steel-making.

World-famous Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum are 10 miles north of the island. Take Outer Drive north to Dix Road. Pedal east to Oakwood Boulevard, then north two miles.

From there, ride north on Oakwood and west on Garrison through Dearborn. Then take Outer Drive north through Dearborn Heights to Detroit's 1,023-acre River Rouge Park. Tree-shaded picnic and rest areas line the route.

Cyclists pass Southfield's modern Civic Center via a city bike route along Filmore and Catalina and head west through a subdivision on Lincoln, then south on Coolidge to 10 Mile Road, encountering some of the trip's heaviest traffic.

Go east two miles along 10 Mile to the famed Detroit Zoo in Royal Oak. One of the nation's largest and the first with cageless exhibits, the 122-acre zoo houses more than 350 animal species which can be seen year-around.

From the zoo, head east on 10 Mile, then north on Main to Lincoln Street and pedal through residential areas in Royal Oak and Madison Heights. In Warren, connect with eastbound M-6, paralleling the unfinished I-696 freeway. Then pedal north on Van Dyke, east on Garbor and north on Arsenal to Martin. It's a paved, straight route to Jefferson Avenue except for a half-mile of hard-packed gravel past Tower High School.

Jefferson is a bike route through St. Clair Shores, offering easy riding in the cooling breezes off Lake St. Clair. Bikers pass numerous homes with backyard docks on canals leading to the "sixth Great Lake."

In Grosse Pointe Shores, Jefferson becomes a divided highway, affording the metropolitan area's best view of the lake, mammoth lakeshore estates and exclusive yacht clubs. The route re-enters Detroit eight miles south.

Prairie is topic of talk

"A Prairie in Bloom" is the topic of a nature walk to be held at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Naturalist Bob Wittersheim will identify and discuss prairie species such as sunflowers, coneflowers, bluestem grasses and many other varieties.

Individuals and families are welcome to this free program, however, vehicle entry permits are required.

For information contact the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark at 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

Folmar seeks fourth stint as Romulus City Clerk

Leonard J. Folmar, the only City Clerk Romulus has had in its 7-year history, is running for re-election in the Nov. 8 general election. Because Folmar and his challenger, Jerry Kubiak, director of public safety, are the only two candidates, there will be no primary.

Folmar, 35, and his wife, Celeste, reside at 35856 Cypress and have two sons, Winston, Todd, 5, and Marcus Bradley, 3.

After growing up in Romulus, he graduated from Romulus High School in 1959 and attended Ferris State College in Big Rapids, from 1959-1963. He graduated with a business administration degree.

In 1963 he entered the Naval reserves and served six months active duty before returning home. He was employed by a Detroit architectural firm the next two years before entering the Army in 1966.

Folmar served in the quartermaster corps and in 1968 was stationed in Weisbaden, Germany, with the 8th Army, 11th Quartermaster's Paratrooper Division.

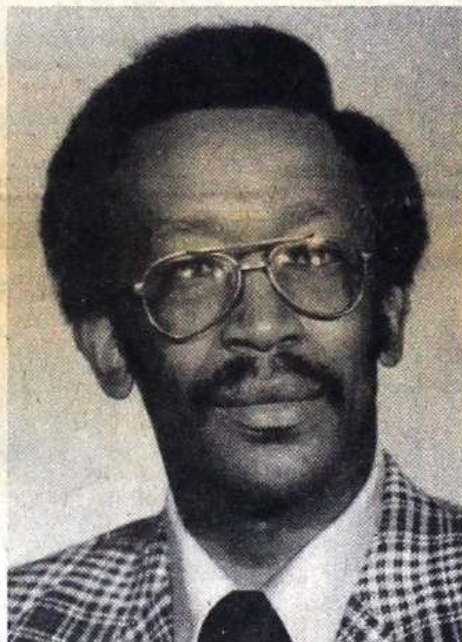

Upon returning home, he served as assistant director of urban renewal for Romulus Township from 1968 to 1970.

Folmar ran for clerk when Romulus became a city in 1970 and was elected. He was re-elected in 1973, and in 1975 was unopposed when he was elected to his third consecutive term.

Highly regarded among his peers in the Wayne County Municipal and Township Clerks Association (WCMTCA), Folmar was elected vice-chairman of that group in 1976. He was voted chairman of WCMTCA last April to serve as head of the group for the coming year.

In addition, he recently has been appointed to the legislative committee of International Institute of Municipal Clerks, a national association with members in the United States and 10 other countries.

"I'd like to see the clerk's office inaugurate new services," he said. We need to publicize what a clerk's role is and its significance to the community."

An avid sports enthusiast, Folmar was a baseball star in high school and college and now enjoys playing golf whenever he can.

Arthur Golden to vie for term on City Council

Arthur Golden, 45, is seeking a seat on the Romulus City Council along with 22 other candidates.

Married 17 years, Arthur and his wife, Jo, reside at 28553 Wick Road, and have four children, aged 5 through 16.

A member of UAW Local 1776 for the past 18 years, Golden is now retired and feels he can devote the time and effort required of a councilman. He is also a member of Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 934 and a life member of VFW Post 9568 of Romulus.

Golden enjoys working with youth as evidenced by his participation in the Boy Scouts of America, where he is scouting coordinator for Troop 1739 of Romulus.

An advocate of a good educational system for children and an ardent supporter of senior citizen housing, he believes in working hand-in-hand with the administration for a stronger, more productive relationship.

Golden favors a good recreation system for Romulus youth to curtail delinquency and says he wants to work towards the betterment of Romulus, thereby creating an atmosphere of unity among its citizens.

Are you conscious of pride?

In his book, "Born Again", Charles Colson tells of reading, "Mere Christianity". He read: "There is one vice of which no man in the world is free; which everyone in the world loathes when he sees it in someone else and of which hardly any people except Christians, ever imagine they are guilty themselves, pride. As long as you are proud you cannot know God."

"A proud man is always looking down on things and people; and, of course as long as you are looking down, you cannot see something that is above you."

From this reading Colson remarked, "Suddenly I felt naked and unclean...for Lewis's words were describing me. For pride is a spiritual cancer; it eats up the very possibility of love, or contentment or even common sense. How could I know God? I had been concerned about myself."

This revelation laid the groundwork for his conversion to Jesus Christ. As Colson, if we are really going to know God, we must become sensitive to this egotistical trait of pride, which is in the very warp and fiber of our innermost being.

Colson aptly describes pride in terms of the most dreaded disease of all — cancer. Cancer is not satisfied with a local condition, but rapidly spreads destroying every tissue that it can. Now a tragic mistake of a person with cancer would be to refuse to admit the condition. So it is a tragedy to refuse to believe that we all have a cancerous condition, namely an egotistical inner nature that results in the acts of sin.

Jesus struck at the core of pride when he preached the "Sermon on the Mount". It is no accident that he began the sermon with the following beatitude. "Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of God." (Matthew 5:2).

The first beatitude lays the foundation for all the rest. It begins with the word, "Blessed". Blessed can also be rendered, "Happy." Being poor in spirit certainly does not suggest happiness. But poor in spirit is that essential inward characteristic that causes pride to flee away. As someone has so aptly expressed it, "The flower of humility grows only on the grave of pride". Being poor in spirit is a recognition of a lack in one's life along with the recognition of someone who fulfills this lack. Being poor in spirit begins when we become thoroughly dissatisfied with ourselves for we realize that in ourselves we are incapable of knowing God and having true happiness in life. It is a gnawing lack that grips our soul.

I realize that I have no righteousness of my own. I am in spiritual poverty apart from Christ and a sinner in the sight of God. So since the power is not within them, the poor in spirit have chosen an alternative. They have heard the good news that Christ saves us from sin and self. They have received Christ who has become their source of fulfillment and happiness. The poor in spirit are no longer impressed by the typical worldly spirit which says, "Believe in yourself and have self confidence and pleasure as your goals in life to find happiness". They have found their answer in Jesus Christ.

Are you conscious of pride? Have you been experiencing a lack within your life?

Canner must be checked

Before you use your pressure canner this summer, check to make sure it is in good working order, urges Dr. June Sears, home economist for the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service.

Examine the cover and rubber gasket for damage.

Clean openings of the safety valve and petcock, which closes the valve, by drawing a cord through them.

Have the dial pressure gauge checked for accuracy by using a steam gauge thermometer or electric testing device. Or, use a maximum temperature thermometer to check gauge accuracy.

Clean the weight gauges. Also, wash the canner itself. Covers that have gauges attached should be wiped clean with a cloth. Do not submerge in water.

Remove the gasket and wash it. Turn it over before returning to place.

Jesus has the only alternative. The Apostle Paul made that discovery nearly 1900 years ago when he said: "But God forbid that I should glory, except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world." (Galatians 6:14).

Workshops to air Campaign Financing Law

Wayne County Clerk James R. Killeen will conduct two workshops to help elected officials and candidates for public office meet the requirements of the new Campaign Financing Act, in effect since June 1.

Under the act, every public official or candidate for public office must file a series of detailed financial reports with the county clerk and/or the Secretary of State, depending on the jurisdiction.

He said the reports are complicated and confusing, have specific deadlines for filing, and harsh penalties are provided for those who fail to submit the reports on time.

The reports are required for all levels of office, from the first local level all the way to the Governor's office, Killeen said. He specified that public officials or candidates for elective office up to the county level are required to file with the county clerk. Those offices above the county level, such as state legislators, must file with the Secretary of State.

The first workshop on these procedures will be held Aug. 22 in the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County Building, beginning at 7 p.m. The second workshop will be on Aug. 24 at 7 p.m., in the council chambers of the Allen Park City Hall.

Killeen hailed the new financing act as "a good measure that would instill public confidence, and provide easy access to the campaign financial records of public officials."

The first report in the required series, called a statement of organization, has already been filed by most officials and candidates, Killeen pointed out.

This report, considered the easiest in the series, identifies the candidate or officeholder, lists personal and campaign mailing addresses and outlines plans for campaign financing.

Noting the Sept. 13 primary date this year, Killeen stressed that a subsequent report must be filed at least 10 days before either a primary or general election.

This pre-election report requires precise documentation of how campaign funds were received and spent in preparing for the election. Included must be the names and addresses of every campaign contributor who donated more than $20.

Killeen also pointed out that, according to the act, a wrap-up report also is required within 30 days after an election.

The final report should update campaign records regarding money and in-kind contributions and expenditures received or made during the campaign, Killeen advised.

Failure to comply with the new act invokes direct action from the State Office of the Attorney General, without intermediate involvement from the county prosecution system, Killeen warned.

He emphasized that violators of the act are fined $10 each day up to 30 days beyond filing deadlines. After 30 days, violators are subject to up to 90 days in jail and fines up to $5,000, or both.

An editorial opinion

What ever happened to that energy saving device?

Last winter's abnormally low temperatures accompanied by equally high gas bills, brought about renewed concern for energy conservation.

It was near the peak of those sub-zero temperatures that the late TV columnist Lou Gordon interviewed a man that claimed to have developed a device capable of reducing the consumption of natural gas in home heating plants by as much as 36 percent.

His device, a simple automatic method of restricting the flue pipe of a furnace, would operate a damper in the flue pipe when the main gas burner of the furnace was off, thereby trapping the heated air within the furnace rather than allowing it to go up the chimney as happens in current installations.

Following that interview in January of 1977, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company announced that that device would be installed in the heating systems of 190 homes in the Detroit area in order to test the system in the residential marketplace. Consolidated stated at that time that the device would, if tests were successful, be available to the general public within two years.

That announcement by Consolidated was greeted with enthusiasm by the residential natural gas user as it offered the hope of providing them with a method of reducing their ever-rising gas bills and the country with a method of moving toward the goal of becoming energy self-sufficient. As a matter of fact, one expert in the field of energy stated that this one device alone would make the United States self sufficient in natural gas within two years.

Now, after almost eight months we are again facing another Michigan winter with little if any new information forthcoming regarding those tests conducted by Consolidated Gas. Instead, we now have been informed that the Consumers Power Company will duplicate Consolidated's tests this winter in 23 Livonia homes. Consumers has announced that they are now installing furnace modifications in those 23 locations for the purpose of testing the same system that Consolidated tested last winter.

This winter, selected customers of Consumers Power will have special meters installed to determine which of the four modifications to be tested (See accompanying sketch), will provide the most efficient cost savings.

While we applaud the efforts of these Michigan Gas Utilities to ensure the safety of their residential customers, past speculation concerning the motives of the utilities in dragging their feet in approving general use of the device, furnishes their shining armor.

Utility critics have stated that this revolutionary new gas saving device has actually been in general use in Europe for the past 20 years. They further state that it is their opinion that the utilities would just as soon not see the device in general use because it might severely reduce the demand for natural gas, and ultimately force the retail price down.

We do not know the answer to the question: Why is it taking so long for this proven gas saving device to be approved for general use? But, we do know that continuing testing will not hasten that day's arrival.

We feel that it is time for the consuming public to get some answers.

Public utilities, such as the gas companies, are just that. The reason for the existence is to provide the citizens of this state with the most efficient service at the lowest possible price.

It seems highly unlikely that the gas utilities have made the decision to resist energy conservation, but at times it appears that they have.

Associated Newspapers urge the gas utilities to disclose the results of their past testing on the flue damper systems. In addition, the utilities owe their captive customers a preview of their plans to support the use of the gas saving device.

It is time for the citizens of Michigan to be informed: just before another long cold winter would be the best time.

Hospital costs a priority

By BOB AMEEN

With all of the time spent by government agencies probing wrongdoing by individuals and companies, many Americans have now adopted a complacent attitude, believing that nothing much will come of most of those investigations.

Many Americans also feel that much of the wheel spinning is being done by publicity-hungry politicians and individuals, ala Ralph Nader, and pay little attention to all of the coverage by our nation's press.

Occasionally, a subject does arise that merits the most thorough of investigations and one that the general public develops an all-consuming interest in seeing corrected.

One such issue that affects each and every American is the spiraling cost of hospital costs, whose sum total reflects charges for a room, medications, laboratory tests and anesthetics. As these costs continue to soar beyond the purse-strings of even the companies we pay to insure us against such calamities, Americans are faced with a problem that seems to have no solution.

But, as in the field of physics which teaches that for every action there is an opposite and equal reaction, every problem has a solution.

Much coverage has been given to this dilemma of the 20th Century by our nation's newspapers and other media, detailing how terrible everything in the area of rising hospital costs have become.

It would appear that in seeking a solution to this problem one of the first areas to tackle would be our priorities. Our local, state and national leaders must unite and label this unwarranted drain on our pocketbooks as one of this nation's No. 1 problems. A problem which must be solved in the shortest possible time.

Once the magnitude of the problem and its ramifications to our nation's total population are recognized, a blue ribbon panel should probe the causes which have culminated in this tragic situation. A situation that has reached such proportions that hospitalization insurance companies themselves are crying for help for fear of going under financially.

A program of national health insurance is perennially advocated as the panacea for the sick, the mentally ill and the disabled. In Great Britain where this social experiment was tried and is still in operation, it has been called a disaster, with much more going out in expenditures than coming in from revenues.

Whatever the answer, and it is certain that much study will have to be made to find one, it will come only when our elected leaders put aside petty issues and take the bit in their teeth.

For hospital rooms to cost anywhere from $100 to $150 per day is preposterous when a large segment of our population makes only about half that amount in total wages for an eight-hour shift.

Fees assessed for laboratory tests in the hospital are staggering and the charges for the use of the operating room and anesthetics are equally high.

In this day of ever-increasing inflation and rising costs for nearly every item needed for human existence — that is food, shelter, clothing and transportation — it should be our first priority to find a solution — to provide a health program with reasonable costs for the care which none of us hope we will ever need.

Only momentary reflection will tell us that no one, from the President of the United States down to the most menial laborer, is immune from the ever-present threat of illness and injury, necessitating a stay in the hospital.

This is a problem that strikes at the heart of every American household and one that must be solved soon.

The real world is better

I saw a commercial the other night on television in which a product was being touted as "...tasting just like good old-fashioned something or another ..."

This commercial, consistent with most of the banality sired by the Madison Avenue wordsmiths, was nothing more than 90 or so seconds of half truths, outright baloney (no matter how they sliced it), total insensitivity, and completely tasteless.

Yet, as I listened to this assault on candor and honesty, it got me to thinking about how many times in a week I hear that dreadful term "in the good old days" being used to describe what is wrong with today's world.

Indeed, in some circles it's the chic thing to dedicate much of one's time decrying the current reality by retreating into a cocoon of yesterday — even through our remembrances of yesterday are generally much nicer than things really were.

In truth I'll confess that I'm old enough to remember the middle and late 1930's. It was an era known as the Great Depression.

Over 30 percent of America's work force was unemployed. Soup and bread lines were common, and I've actually seen hungry men come to the door and beg for a sandwich. The good old days? Hardly.

If you were a sports fan, perhaps you can remember listening to the radio (sorry, but in the good old days we had no TV to stimulate our brains) to hear Ty Tyson and later Harry Heilman broadcast the Detroit Tiger's games away from home via a method laughingly called telegraphic reconstruction.

Here's the way it worked. The broadcaster would sit in a studio and read basic data as these data were transmitted over a Western Union wire.

The transmission might read, for example, "Cochrane flied out to center." It then became the task of Ty or Harry to play-act and do an embellishment on these simple words. What the listener would hear was something like,

"Cochrane swings ... it's a long drive toward center field ... DiMaggio turns and starts back ... he leaps, and makes a spectacular one-handed catch of the vicious line drive off the bat of Mickey Cochrane."

Such was the essence of sports broadcasting in the good old days. Bah, humbug!

Can you remember how most houses were heated not too many years ago? Like most everyone else, we had a coal furnace in our house. Nothing wrong with that, except, of course, the blasted thing had to be banked at night, the damper had to be set properly, there were miserable ashes to be shoveled from the firebox gratings and carried outside about twice each week, and then there was the most infamous problem of all, the coal bin.

To the initiated, the coal bin was a room built in the basement into which was poured the coal you were to use to keep your furnace stoked. Try as my father might, there was simply no way he could ever make that infernal coal bin tight enough to keep coal dust from seeping out into the rest of the basement. And you must understand, that the coal dust made it very difficult for my mother when she hung out the wash to dry in the basement during the winter months.

You see, in those good old days, we didn't have automatic washers and dryers. Clothes were washed in an agitator machine which had attached to it a pair of hard rubber rollers through which you ran the wash (and occasionally a thumb or other part of the anatomy) to squeeze out the excess water before hanging up the clothes to dry.

Now unless you were one of the Grosse Pointe swells, the soap you used to wash the clothes came in bar form, and not in the flakes or powder we are all used to today. As I recall, my mother used Fels Naptha bar soap. She'd take a paring knife and shave off thin slices of soap and drop them into the hot water as it was being agitated in the machine. That would make the soap lather, and presto, you had soap suds in which you could wash your clothes.

Washing clothes in the good old days was an all-day exercise (generally Monday), and when you finished, you were pooped.

From the State House

Handicapped facilities no longer excluded

In recent years, new approaches to the care of the mentally of physically handicapped, the elderly, and other persons who are in need of care have stressed the development of community based services as an alternative to institutionalization.

The state of Michigan embarked some 13 years ago on a program of community placement for persons who had been receiving care and treatment in institutions for the mentally ill or mentally retarded, but who no longer needed the intensive care and treatment the institution afforded.

It is felt that in a residential community setting many of these persons can achieve a satisfying life that is as independent and nearly normal as possible. Not only do adult foster care homes and child care facilities provide an interim step for persons who no longer require treatment in an institution but who are not yet ready or able to live on their own, they also serve as permanent homes for persons who have never been in an institution but who, because of age or handicap, need some amount of assistance. In many cases, these persons have lived with their families until the parents were no longer able to provide the necessary care. It is estimated that nearly 70 percent of those currently in foster care never have been institutionalized.

In addition, community mental health programs have attempted to avoid institutionalization for as many persons who come to them for help as possible. They also desire the availability of small foster care homes for clients who can no longer reside in their own homes.

However, in many communities, zoning ordinances have been used to exclude foster care facilities from those residential areas where they could be most effective. As a result, these facilities have tended to cluster in areas without such zoning restrictions and in less suitable commercial and multi-use zones, creating in effect "ghetto" situations rather than the family residential atmosphere that is desired.

Another result has been a tendency toward the development of larger homes which provide care for a large number of residents rather than the small home that more closely approximates a normal family situation.

Hence the Legislature last session enacted a series of five bills seeking to address these two problem areas of the community placement program: allegedly exclusionary zoning practices and the overconcentration of foster care facilities.

The new laws, which took effect this past April 1, amend the city and village, township, and county zoning laws as well as the Adult Foster Care Licensing Act and the Child Caring Institutions Licensing Act by providing that persons in need of community residential care shall not be excluded by zoning from the benefits of normal residential surroundings. A state licensed residential facility providing foster care to six or fewer persons under 24 hour supervision shall be considered a residential use of property and be permitted in all residential zones, including single family zones.

These facilities shall not be subject to any zoning procedure or permit process different from those required for other structures in the same residential zone. Such facilities will have to comply with all local zoning ordinances and codes, just as any other dwelling in that residential zone.

There have been numerous allegations that persons have been placed in facilities which do not meet the licensing requirements, and that the inspection and regulation of these facilities is inadequate. This, along with the unfounded fear and mistrust with which many persons view these facilities has been another barrier to community acceptance.

Part of the five bill package was drafted purposely to give local units of government the power to force foster care facilities to live up to licensing requirements. It is my feeling that the local people are more likely to know about a facility that has not been operated properly or whose building has deteriorated since its license was first issued.

Two very important items to remember are that the new laws do not apply to homes caring for more than six foster residents. Such facilities are still required to follow the local zoning procedures which usually demands a public hearing and the granting of a special use permit. Also, the provisions of the bill do not apply to adult foster care facilities licensed by any state agency for the care or treatment of persons released from or assigned to adult correctional institutions.

These bills received much support from the Governor and from organizations and individuals concerned about the need for more foster care facilities, especially in more desirable residential areas. Of course, they aroused opposition from many local units of government who claimed that such legislation erodes the power of local government who claimed that such legislation ment to control use of their land. To this I must reply, yes, the state has granted municipalities the right to zone. It is not an inherent right of local government. But, however meritorious the arguments regarding local control of local matters, the state can, and should, intervene when the welfare of the people of the state is at stake.

Local governments should not be allowed to discriminate with impunity against some handicapped members of our society. Further, it should be remembered that the law is part of a package which gives municipalities, for the first time, the power to file a direct complaint against a facility which is not being properly run. Thus, although the bill would take away a small amount of local discretion regarding zoning, the package of bills would give them a new right in return.

From the State House

Port Authority would create jobs, commerce

Recently public hearings were held in the Detroit area and across the state regarding bills before the legislature which would enable localities to create port authorities.

While this may seem like a rather obscure subject for most Michigan citizens, I assure you that the establishment of port authorities, particularly in the Detroit area, would have far-reaching, and favorable, economic consequences for a great many people.

House Bill 5019, which I introduced, would allow cities and counties to establish port authorities for their particular area. Briefly stated, these port authorities would control and direct water-borne trade in and out of a given area. They could buy land, build facilities and charge fees for the use of the facilities. The Governor would have to approve an authority's articles of incorporation.

There would be two different kinds of authorities differentiated by the size of the areas served. This would effectively mean that the makeup and funding of a Detroit-Wayne County Port Authority would be different from that for other areas of the state.

A Detroit-area authority would have one member from the Department of Commerce, two members appointed by the city and two by the county, with no more than two from the same city, thereby insuring county-wide representation.

For all authorities, their funding would not create or allow an increase in the overall millage limit on levies by local governments. Also, the authority could not commit funds from a constituent entity without a "yes" vote by the member from that entity. There would have to be a unanimous vote to approve any operating budget or capital outlay.

A crucial aspect of HB 5019 is that it would give port authorities the power to issue revenue bonds in order to raise the money necessary for the development of port facilities. This is a vital part of any plan to create a port authority, since without independent funding an authority would be subject to political whims and considerations.

Such bonds would be repaid from income derived from the projects which they finance. These bonds could not be considered a debt of the state or of a local unit of government. In fact, they would state on their face that they are not a general obligation of the state.

An authority could also issue bonds in anticipation of revenue from several sources: money which will be paid to the authority by public or private corporations; limited funds from varied other sources.

House Bill 5019 also contains provisions for yearly audits, public hearings, and other procedures to ensure that the public would have the greatest possible voice in the operation of the Port Authority.

Benefits would be many. With an increased volume of trade for Michigan in general and the Detroit area in particular, business would benefit from the greater and more diversified turnover of products; workers would benefit from the new jobs that would be generated; state government and state services would benefit from the increased state revenue which would come in the form of taxes on wages and production.

It is important to consider that more than just manufacturing concerns would benefit from the creation of a modern port facility. Rail and truck facilities would be upgraded to speed the transfer of containerized and other cargo; storage facilities would be expanded to handle the volume of traffic; service industries would have an increased market in supply and maintenance of ships and crew; and shoreside workers would be an essential part of any increased activity.

Keeping this in mind, it is estimated that creation of a Port Authority for the Detroit area alone would create over 30,000 jobs,

Urges school millage support

To the Editor:

I am urging the voters in the Van Buren School District to support the latest millage request because:

You want our kids to have the advantages that result in self-confident adults.

You are proud of our students who excel in the sports, music, drama, and debating programs.

You realize that millage cannot, by law, be used for building programs.

You know that the loss of operating millage only deprives our students. The Board gets no benefits from it.

You know that if you are not satisfied with any Board policy, you can get involved and work for change. Good government needs citizen input.

If you are retired, you understand that your children received their education and you will not deprive our future citizens of theirs.

'Sumpter' too expensive

To the Editor:

If the best reason Sumpter Voters have for voting yes in the coming Van Buren School Election is to retain the name "SUMPTER" on a school building I'd be happy to join in a campaign to rename any school in this district Sumpter School.

Come on Folks! We aren't talking about identity here, we are talking about money—in a time of maddening inflation. We are talking about WASTE—in a time we are all being called upon to conserve.

Help your Senior Citizens survive on their fixed income, help yourself to survive the rising cost of living, tell them with your vote that it is time to shape up or ship out. I don't 'know', if they 'know', that I 'know', how to spell 'NO', so I'll say it again. Vote NO on August 30.

Sex education ban lifted

To the Editor:

I guess it was inevitable that the State House has lifted a ban on teaching birth-control methods in public schools.

If the teachers of these sex education classes would also teach the moral attitudes and the responsibilities related to sex there wouldn't be such a great need to teach birth-control methods.

To explain all of the mechanics of reproduction without teaching the proper attitudes and controls is like giving a child a loaded gun without showing him how to use it.

Nevertheless the responsibility is often omitted or minimized in the public school system.

I'm not opposed to sex education in schools, provided both elements of the subject are presented properly.

There is no objective that is more important to the future of our nation than the teaching of moral discipline to the most recent generation of Americans.

Reunion set

To the Editor:

Romulus High School graduating class of 1962 will hold its 15th year reunion at 8 p.m. Aug. 20 at the VFW Hall in Romulus.

All members of the class are requested to attend. If you have not been contacted or know of someone who should be contacted, please call 941-0123 before the August 10 deadline date.

If no answer, please call Bonnie Kreyger at 941-1784.

Romulus has not fulfilled its potential

Dear Editor:

A month before elections and Romulus citizens are already groaning. The strains of election gimmicks are showing their effects.

Human nature is such that, in the end, we will recover. An analogy reads...When we view a forest in full summer bloom, we accept the decay on its floor as part of its growth cycle. Should that forest fail to grow, the decay would stand out and could not be accepted.

Romulus has not fulfilled its potential for growth.

Political unrest has caused investors and citizens to take a second look at Romulus, and like the forest, we cannot hide the decay.

If lack of growth is our problem, where is the potential for growth?

First, within our schools...we can rightfully boast of the best vocational program in the state, with basketball, track, and music receiving statewide mention. Our schools will only grow with your support September 12.

Second, within city services...recreation, job services, the Help Center, the Neighborhood Center and our parks program. These, along with roads and utilities, depend on support from our elected officials.

Third, transportation...easily accessible, an incentive for industrial development.

Fourth, our prime resource, land...marketable in a stable political climate. Ready for development into homes and jobs for our community.

Community growth is dependent on stability in our schools, our city, and our citizens.

Reflections

Mom hits the road

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I was seven years old when my mother made up her mind she was going to learn to drive. Putting on her broad-brimmed hat with the red roses and the pink veiling she walked out to the barnyard where my father was milking the cows.

"Charles," she said, "When you have finished I want you to show me how to drive the automobile."

My father lifted his head from under the cow's belly and looked up at my mother in astonishment as he missed the milk pail and squirted my bare toes which were too near the milking stool.

"What did you say?" he asked calmly enough, considering that most women didn't interrupt their husbands at milking time wanting to learn how to drive an automobile.

My mother told him again that she wanted to learn to drive the Model T and my father said, "Yep, sometime," and went on missing that milk pail which should have shown her how disconcerted he was.

A couple of hours later, he was sitting in the passenger seat of the open touring car showing her how to shift gears; how to choke and how to steer.

"I know, I know," my mother said impatiently as he went over and over the instructions. And with that he put his long legs over the car door and leaped out into the road.

"Take it away," he shouted.

"Charles, where did you go?" she yelled, turning her head to look for him, which made her hat tilt forward on her nose, which made it impossible for her to see.

"Charles... Charles..." she wailed, lifting her hands from the wheel as she frantically tried to adjust her hat.

"Straighten it out... straighten it out..." my father shouted as he ran along behind the car.

"I can't," she wailed. "It's stuck over my nose..."

"The auto," he shouted. "Straighten the wheel..." Seeing that the car was headed for the ditch beside the road, my father leaped over the back seat and grabbed the wheel.

As he did so, he knocked my mother's hat clear off her head. With indignation written all over her face, she took both hands and pushed my father back over the car door and out into the road.

Then she choked that Model T and went roaring off in a cloud of dust. She drove that car over the fence, through the meadow and into the pond.

A few days later, feeling much wiser, she decided that she would pick up my sister and I after school.

At four that afternoon my little sister and I were standing on the schoolhouse steps, clutching our peanut butter pails in which we had carried our lunches, waiting for our mother.

With excitement we watched her come driving through the gate, broad-brimmed hat covered with roses, pink veiling over her face, gloved hands gripping the steering wheel firmly, and a frantic look on her face.

"I can't stop this thing," she shouted.

Passing the steps once she circled the school yard until she came alongside us once again. But the car didn't stop. On it went...round and round that school yard. On the fifth try she yelled at us as she came close.

"Next time I go around," she shrieked, "jump in!"

Clutching our peanut butter pails, we went down the steps and as she drew near we made a running jump and I fell over the door into the car. But my little sister got hung up.

My mother lifted her hands off the steering wheel and yanked my little sister into the car, just as that Model T ran into the fence...and died.

"That does it," my mother said as she helped us from the car. "I don't care if I never see that thing again." And with that, she took our hands and we walked the four miles home.

attended by schools representing many states and Canada, with competition based on the squads grade level. Show off one of their cheers during the conference were Cindy West (standing, from left), Chris Bird and Terrie Dobbs (forming the pyramid), Debbie Moreau, Collette Clody, Stacy Fenchel, Lee Nagy, Laura Richendollar, Lynda Bennett and Lori Ostrowski.

License unit offers organ donor tags

All Michigan drivers will be able to obtain special Medical Information and Organ Donor stickers, which are designed for attaching to the backs of their driver licenses.

According to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, whose office is issuing the new labels, "These will enable drivers to carry crucial medical care information where it is immediately available in case of an accident or emergency. Law enforcement officers, para-medics, ambulance crews and hospital personnel are all accustomed to checking driver licenses for basic information about persons involved in accidents or other emergencies." "anatomical gift" section, for persons who wish to donate eyes, kidneys, skin, bone marrow or other organs after death."

Austin's office has added a box on the front of all new driver licenses, where the driver can indicate whether medical or organ donor information is included on the back.

"From now on, all drivers will automatically receive the labels by mail, in the same envelope with their photo licenses," he said.

Drivers whose licenses aren't due to be renewed for some time may obtain labels at any Secretary of State branch office.

The new Medical Information and Organ Donor Labels were provided for by the State Legislation in Public Act 358 of 1976, the anatomical donor law.

MARY ANN BANKS

CANDIDATE FOR ROMULUS CITY COUNCIL

Please invest a few minutes of your time to allow us to tell you about our candidate for the Romulus City Council, Mary Ann Banks. Mary Ann (Renke) Banks is a life-long resident. She has had a long-time interest in her city and has been involved with many community activities and charity organizations.

There are many reasons for believing Mary Ann will do an excellent job on our city council. Primarily, as an independent, Mary Ann Banks' allegiance is to our city. We feel that now is the time for her to take an active part in our government.

As an independent, Mary Ann is committed only to the betterment of the city. She is proud to live in Romulus and will address the city's needs systematically to make Romulus a place for all its citizens to live and work with pride.

CB World

What's in a handle?

In the world of CB a handle is a code name used for identifying purposes. Are they legal? Well, the FCC, not too long ago, sanctioned the use of handles so long as your regular assigned call sign also is given properly. At times you hear a CBER use his own name as his handle, causing a few raised eyebrows. Seems that there is some unwritten law against using your own name on the CB.

Kelley to seek fund for families of peace officers

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley recently announced a wide-ranging, innovative Peace Officers Benefit Plan in a speech before the annual Michigan Prosecuting Attorneys Convention, held on Mackinac Island.

Kelley's plan is designed to provide benefits for the dependents of peace officers who are slain in the line of duty. The plan includes:

- Tuition-free college or trade school education for the spouses and children of a slain peace officer.
- A benefit payment of $100 per week for life to the spouse of a slain peace officer.
- A benefit payment of $25 per week to the child of a slain peace officer lasting until the child completes his education.
- Extending the benefit program to include not only those who are killed after the program is enacted, but the families of all those ever killed in the state.
- Coverage of all peace officers. This would include state and local police, firemen, conservation officers and others involved in the control or reduction of criminal acts, or the enforcement of criminal laws.

Kelley said: "I make this proposal not with a view of giving the family of a peace officer a gift, but rather with a view toward partially compensating them for their loss. After all, the family of a peace officer slain in the line of duty has little hope of suing the criminal who caused the death.

"Certainly, these two laws will cost some amount of money. But I don't believe the cost will be an undue burden on the state budget. I believe it is the least we should do to express our gratitude to those people on the front line in the battle against crime."

Kelley said he would present the plan as a specific legislative proposal to the Michigan legislature when it comes back into session in September.

Kelley presented the Peace Officers' Benefit Plan during a speech on the state of criminal justice in Michigan.

In that speech Kelley said the state was reaching a turning point in its criminal justice system, with more attention being paid to how that system serves the victims of crime rather than being totally concerned with justice for the criminals. He cited the state's new mandatory sentence for carrying a gun while committing a crime, and the new compensation for the victims of violent crime act as evidence of this trend.

After all, why be just plain Joe, if you can be something exotic-like Chopped Liver.

Some operators use a personalized identification as a means of making it more difficult for Uncle Charlie's monitors to find them. I would say that a majority of operators use a handle as an extension of their own personality.

CBers were not the first to initiate the practice of handles. If you really think about it, it's all been done before. Radio stations, military communications, ships and aircraft require the use of code names.

Unlike CBers and most other FCC licensees who are forced to accept whatever call sign Uncle Charlie's computer kicks out, AM-FM and TV broadcast stations can request specific call signs, and the FCC generally accommodates them so long as the requested call signs are not already assigned.

The fact is that it appears to be true that what we call ourselves over the air somehow shapes our image in the minds of those who listen to us.

When a CB handle has been decided on (usually after much thought) it is considered by many to be their very own personal property. It's usually startling to hear someone else with your handle. If you do, don't get all bent out of shape. Don't feel like you have been ripped off. When you hear someone using the same handle as yours go back to him and ask him how long he has had the handle. The usual response is "about 30 years". When you hear that kind of an answer that usually puts a shot across your bow.

Some CBers have been known to become violent over the theft of the handle. If someone gives you a hard time about using the same handle you can always retaliate by saying "up your nose, now we both have the same handle". That usually settles them down.

Since the upsurge in CB use, handle duplications are quite common. It can't really be helped. There seems to be little objection to a CBER in Michigan using the same handle as an operator in Florida. It's when two CBers in the same general area use the same handle that tempers begin to flare.

Some people make choosing a handle a simple matter while others meditate, ask for opinions and take a long period of decision before they make their choice. It has to be special — has to capture the very essence of the ego.

A big complaint with handles is that they are hard to understand. Be careful that you pick a handle that doesn't sound too confusing, especially in all the heavy congestion we have been experiencing.

There you have it. Before you key the mike and make yourself known — again, or for the first time — make sure you really want to be thought of as your handle.

We heard three people out there typing up the channels this week. The Demon, Lucifer and Reagan. What's happening? Is the CB going to hell?

The EAR just found out that we have three county mounties to add to our list that have ears now. They are out there patrolling I-94 and I-275. The handles are Raven, Sambo and Rooster Fish. If you need any help or just want to say howdy, go ahead and break for them. Glad to have you out there guys, just go easy on handing out them autographs, 10-4!

HOW IT FEELS TO HAVE A HEART ATTACK

The way a heart attack feels can vary. So how can you be sure that what you're feeling is really a heart attack?

By remembering this:
If you feel an uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest (that may spread to the shoulders, neck or arms) and if it lasts for two minutes or more, you could be having a heart attack. Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur. Sharp, stabbing twinges of pain are usually not signals of a heart attack.

Your survival may depend on getting medical attention as quickly as you can. Call the emergency medical service immediately. If you can get to a hospital faster in any other way, do so.

Don't refuse to accept the possibility that you are having a heart attack. Many heart attack victims do just that. They say it's indigestion or tension. They worry about embarrassment. They often wait three hours or longer before getting help.

But before those three hours are up, one out of two is dead. Remember what you've just read. The time might come when your life will depend on it.

Firm introduces 'Energy Miser' building

Contemporary Structures Inc. of Romulus has introduced the "Energy Miser" metal building system as the company's answer to the growing demand for energy-efficient construction.

The "Energy Miser" is designed to provide customers with a building system that meets or betters the minimum standards set by the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers (ASHRAE), according to Samuel A. Moses, vice-president of Contemporary Structures Inc., located on Metroplex Drive in Romulus.

"The 'Energy Miser' metal building system is designed to save customers money on their initial heating and cooling equipment costs, and on fuel bills in the years to come," Moses explained. " 'Energy Miser' systems can be used in the construction of virtually every type of building, including school and recreational facilities, manufacturing plants, stores and warehouses, offices, showrooms, anything you might need."

The "Energy Miser" design is "more than just four walls and a roof," Moses said. "It's a total package of insulation that completely surrounds the structure from top to bottom."

The new system is comprised of the SR-700 roof system and the SW-700 wall system, both manufactured by the Stran metal building system division of National Steel Products Co., Houston, Tex.

"Both the roof system and the wall system are factory insulated," Moses added. "The insulating properties of the combination gives Stran customers a system more than twice as energy efficient as old style or conventional construction methods."

According to Moses, studies show that "the 'Energy Miser' building needs only 25 tons of air conditioning equipment, compared to a conventionally constructed building that would require 40 tons of air conditioning equipment."

"And for heating, a conventional building required 413,000 BTU's, while the Stran building needs only 199,000 BTU's," he said. "An estimated $34,227 would be required for initial mechanical equipment on a conventional building, but only $22,734 would be required for 'Energy Miser' structure. That's a savings of $11,493 — initially."

Moses noted that customers also would save on operating costs.

"Annual heating and cooling costs for a conventional building average approximately $4,384," he said. "For the 'Energy Miser' building, the annual total would be something like $2,686."

"In just a few years, this savings of more than $1,500 annually really begins to add up."

"And, of course, that's just the savings to the customer's pocket-book. He's also saving on the amount of energy being consumed. An estimated 541,300 cubic feet of energy would be saved annually through construction of the 'Energy Miser' building."

Moses explained that the SR-700 roof system is a standing seam, factory-finished, lightweight panel with superior weathertightness because of its wide panel standing seam design.

The factory-finished SW-700 wall system has "clean architectural styling and is available in natural earth tone colors or in a choice of Stranstone finishes", he added.

MOSQUITOS

Their bite is more than itchy

Mosquitos can be nasty pests at this time of year in more ways than one. Not only can their bites cause itching nuisances, but bites from certain mosquitos may cause outbreaks of a serious disease.

In 1975 there were 36 reported cases of St. Louis Encephalitis throughout Wayne County. Last year there were six cases of this mosquito-transmitted disease in Michigan.

Dr. Perry Stearns, Wayne County health director, said that there is no evidence so far this year of a St. Louis Encephalitis outbreak. The Health Department's bird surveillance program is trying to determine if the virus that causes this disease is in the blood of local birds. The disease is passed back and forth between mosquito and bird and is transmitted to man by the bite of the mosquito. Only two birds out of nearly 4,000 tested this year in Michigan show evidence of some virus activity. Health officials are uncertain if the virus is left over from last year or whether a new disease cycle has begun.

All area residents can help reduce the number of mosquitoes and the possibility of diseases. Since all mosquitoes require water for hatching of eggs, residents can help themselves and their neighbors by the elimination of water holding containers or ponded water on their property.

Specific suggestions from the Health Department for reducing mosquito breeding in the neighborhood include:

- Keep water changed daily in wading pools. Swimming pools unused for several days should still be filtered and disinfected daily.
- Keep water changed weekly in bird baths.
- Fill in low areas of yards that cause water ponding.
- Discard any items such as old tires that hold water.
- Check house rain gutters and downspouts for clogging or holding water.
- Keep drainage ditches in front of property clean.
- Ornamental ponds should either be stocked with fish or drained and cleaned weekly.

Other helpful measures include cutting of grass and weeds close to the ground; and where mosquitoes are still evident the treatment of yard vegetation with mosquitos are still evident the treatment of yard vegetation with residual insecticides, such as Malathion. Other relatively safe insecticides, which can provide mosquito control for up to one or two hours are pyrethrum sold in several brand name products. These are contact sprays which have very little residual action, but provide short term effectiveness.

To minimize the annoyance of biting mosquitos, the Health Department recommends that doors and windows be closed unless insect screening is available, that protective clothing be worn or insect repellants used when outdoors in areas with numerous mosquitos. If possible, it is better to stay away from wooded and heavily vegetated areas. Since mosquitos are most active during evening hours, it is helpful to stay inside at that time.

David Dane be hired as a full time custodian at South Jr. High School effective July 12, 1977. Ayes: All. Nays: None.

Motion by Richard Muse, supported by William McCollum, to accept recommendations for awarding of contracts for Bid Package No. 4 as presented. Motion carried. (Bid summary attached)

Dale Kaulitz discussed a resolution regarding the expulsion of high school student Pete Winnie. Parent declined a Board hearing. Meeting was held with the mother, the student, their attorney, Mr. Ford, Mr. Kaulitz, and school attorney. It was decided by the administration that expulsion be until the second semester of the 1977-78 school year instead of permanent as originally requested. Nothing in writing has been received regarding the decline of Board hearing or compromise proposal for expulsion from the parent or their attorney. Motion by Charles Paas, supported by Robert Cook, that this matter be tabled until concurrence is received from Pete Winnie's mother or attorney. Motion carried.

William McCollum, reporting for the screening committee, presented committee's recommendation for the appointment of Clarence Russell to fill the vacancy on the Board of Education created by the resignation of R. Lynne Hamilton for one year. Motion by William McCollum, supported by Richard Muse, to appoint Clarence Russell to fill Board vacancy. Charles Paas requested the list of names of all persons who stated interest in the vacancy and whether the request was verbal or written. He felt that each person should be interviewed before an appointment is made. He also pointed out the fact that the School Board has 20 days in which to appoint a replacement, but after 20 days has lapsed, the Wayne County School Board will appoint person. Since July 11 was the 21st day after resignation, he felt the School Board forfeited their right to appoint and it should now be left up to the Wayne County School Board. Discussion was held and school attorney was contacted. It was suggested that the original motion be amended to say that Clarence Russell be appointed to fill vacancy, provided it was not an illegal appointment. Roll call vote on original motion: Ayes: McCollum, Muse, Roe. Nays: Sayre, Paas, Cook. Motion defeated.

Motion by Charles Paas, supported by Robert Cook, to contact the W.C.I.S.D. and forward them a list of people that requested to be on the School Board as Hamilton's replacement, indicate whether request was by letter or verbal, and request that the Wayne County School Board make the selection. Motion carried.

Richard Muse, chairman of the Administration Committee, presented the committee's recommendation to appoint Richard Kremkow as principal of Belleville High School. Motion by Richard Muse, supported by James Sayre, to approve appointment as presented. Charles Paas asked for a delay in the appointment until he had a chance to meet with candidate. Discussion was held. Motion carried with Paas abstaining.

Richard Muse also presented the following Administration Committee's recommendation regarding placement of principals at ten elementary schools assuming passage of millage election on August 30, 1977: Savage Road-Clyde Stapleton, Tyler Road-Don Priest, Rawsonville-Tom McLenon, West Willow-Dave Larabell, Edgemont-no change, Haggerty-no change, Quirk-no change, Elwell-no change, Denton-no change, and Sumpter-undetermined. Motion by Richard Muse, supported by William McCollum, to accept assignment of principals as presented with the exception of West Willow. Six candidates from within who have applied for the elementary principal positions to be interviewed by the Board and two will be selected-one for West Willow and one for Sumpter. Motion carried.

Discussion was held regarding the Special School Election on August 30, 1977. Last day to register is August 1. It was suggested that since precinct 5B was temporarily set up for use when the bridge was out, that another permanent precinct be set up at Tyler Elementary School. Notification would be made by letter to all residents of Precinct 5B of the new voting precinct. Motion by Robert Cook, supported by James Sayre, that another precinct be established at Tyler Elementary School. Motion carried.

President Roe requested that the Central Administration Committee and Board Committee of Charles Paas and James Sayre are to meet and come up with Plan A and Plan B by July 25, 1977 and have completed plans ready to present to the Board and public by August 1, 1977. Plan A will be utilizing 10 elementary schools and additional programs that can be added and Plan B will be utilizing 8 elementary schools with no additional programs added. Comments were heard from visitors regarding the two new elementary schools, high school principal appointment, school board vacancy, additional precinct at Sumpter Elementary School, closing of two elementary schools, and High School Band.

Kelley asks PSC not to grant rehearing

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has asked the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC) not to grant Consumers Power Co. a rehearing on a recent PSC decision which could mean up to $10 million in refunds to Consumers customers over the next year.

On June 6, the PSC issued an order, that agreed with a brief filed by Kelley, requiring Consumers to repay approximately $1.6 million because of overcharges in its fuel adjustment clause. That refund has been completed, but now Consumers is asking the PSC to reconsider the basic decision made in ordering that refund.

Kelley said: "This matter is a simple one. Consumers changed a basic accounting procedure with regard to nuclear fuel that in effect greatly increased the booked cost of this fuel. We contended that the company had no right to make such a unilateral change in accounting assumptions. The PSC agreed with our position and ordered the $1.6 million refund."

Power utilities in Michigan are allowed to pass on 90 percent of the increased cost of fuel automatically to their customers. As a check on this procedure, the PSC holds reconciliation hearings to insure that the company has not been overcollecting through the fuel adjustment clause.

At last reconciliation hearing Kelley alleged that Consumers had overcharged customers by arbitrarily changing the salvage value of its spent nuclear fuel. Previously, the spent fuel had been assigned a fairly substantial salvage value, but Consumers unilaterally changed the salvage value to zero and upped its fuel adjustment charge accordingly. The PSC agreed with Kelley's position and ordered the refund.

The reason for Consumers appeal for rehearing is that another reconciliation hearing is scheduled in early August to cover fuel adjustment clause use from October 1976 thru June 1977. Because Consumers undervalued its spent nuclear fuel it faces possible refunds of up to $10 million in the next year.

Kelley has taken the position, and the PSC agreed, that major changes in accounting, such as reducing the book value of spent nuclear fuel, can only be done as a result of major rate cases, not as a result of reconciliation hearings. Consumers is asking the PSC to reconsider that position and allow major accounting changes to be approved by reconciliation hearings.

Special relives baseball glory

Baseball pioneers and their turn-of-the-century times are recreated by actual newsreels, still photographs and taped interviews in "Glory of Their Times," a 1-hour special encoring on Channel 56 Aug. 24, at 10 p.m., during a week of special shows.

Viewers will be able to listen to the first-hand recollections of old-timers Sam Crawford, George Gibson, Harry Hooper, Davy Jones, Sam Jones, Hans Robert, Rube Marquard, Chief Meyers, Ed Roush, Fred Snodgrass and Smokey Joe Wood.

Rare film will bring to life legendary players and managers like Babe Ruth, Christy Mathewson, John J. McGraw, Honus Wagner, Walter Johnson and Connie Mack.

Ty Cobb of the old Detroit Tigers is featured in the 1909 World Series and talks about his rivalry with top Pittsburgh Pirate Honus Wagner.

The stories these men share exemplify the character and humor of sports pioneers when baseball was a different, sometimes rowdy game. Like the story of a player who was fined $50 by his own manager for scoring a run on a stolen base when he had been told not to!

Shots of early automobiles and airplanes, major news events and personalities serve as trimmings to footage of memorable baseball games, players and managers.

TODAY'S Real Estate

by M. Phyllis Crabtree

Perhaps no other person typified urban land speculation during the late 1700's better than Jacob Astor, active on the burgeoning island of Manhattan. Astor, a German immigrant, arrived in New York in 1784 and immediately involved himself in the commerce of the city. When the Jay Treaty was signed in 1796, fur trading opened up to the Northwest, and Astor became the dominant figure in this trade. With the funds from his various trading exploits, Astor began buying up Manhattan real estate — with tremendous profits for himself.

Schoolcraft has personal growth seminars

The Schoolcraft College counseling department will offer six personal growth and human development seminars and courses during the fall semester.

Two different human development credit seminars are scheduled. The first, Human Development Services (HDS) 100, is patterned after the human potential seminars which have attracted nearly 2,500 participants since the small group experience was first offered. 4-day sections are planned.

According to the director of counseling services, John Webber, HDS 100 participants gain personal insight and positive direction in their lives.

A recent group member observed: "I never realized that I had so many abilities and talents. I've learned to think better of myself and I have more direction in my life after learning to plan and look ahead at what I want to do."

A mixture of people, 18 to 80 years of age, provides an opportunity for productive personal interaction.

Students gain a fresh perspective by thinking about themselves from a positive point of view rather than dwelling on limitations or problems.

The second credit course, Strategies in Life-Work Planning, is designed for people searching for new careers.

"Making a career decision is one of the most important decisions people make in their lifetime and one they make several times," Webber said.

This seminar will help teach individuals how to make career decisions by helping them know and understand themselves. In a systematic way participants match personal needs, interests, strengths, values, talents and hobbies with potential careers.

Luck and being in the right place at the right time are inadequate methods for making career decisions. This seminar can help organize that luck. According to Webber, everyone has the ability to make wise career decisions, but they need to learn how to do it. Counselors will lead 2-day and 2-evening sections of the course.

An experimental workshop, entitled Eliminating Math Anxiety-Math 40, will focus on eliminating the fear that prevents understanding mathematics. Instructor Barbara Riehl and counselor Shirley Emerson will teach the 3-credit course. Enrollment is limited and mathematics instruction will be individualized to serve student needs.

In addition to these credit courses, two other personal growth seminars will be offered through community services.

They include "Anxiety Management and Relaxation Training" for people who are looking for new techniques to handle the many stressful situations which are part of our daily lives, and "Transactional Analysis" in which students learn to analyze, describe and change behaviors they wish to change.

Finally a group for people in the process of divorce or already divorced will be offered by the counseling staff. The group will meet weekly and cover techniques to cope with feelings which often result from a divorce.

Further information regarding these seminars and courses may be obtained by calling the counseling office at 591-6400, ext. 236. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Georgia Badgett, recording secretary, was hostess at the Aug. 6 meeting of Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW). Her cottage on Lake Erie, near Wheatley, Ont. Canada, was the destination of the members and their guests as they drove across the Ambassador Bridge and through the fruitful Canadian country side. Corn, freshly picked, was the piece-de-resistance of the potluck picnic meal served at lunchtime. During the business meeting those who had attended the National BPW Convention reported on action taken at the national level as well as some of the fun aspects of the trip. Plans for the 1977-78 club year were discussed and many finalized. The bulletin committee had made the plans for the picnic which gave the group an opportunity to visit Canada.

On church grounds

Trinity Episcopal planning festival for late August

Trinity Episcopal Church will sponsor a day-long summer festival Aug. 27 on the church grounds located at Belleville Road and Venetian Avenue, just south of I-94. Activities will get underway at 10 a.m. and continue on into the evening.

A large tent will be erected for the occasion to shelter a large variety of games including a fish pond, hula hoop toss, bumper game, cork gun, dart-a-patch, ping pong toss, roll-a-score, Pepsi-pitch, bird game and stein game.

Special attractions will be a moonwalk, car smash and bingo which will be played for cash prizes continually throughout the festival.

Refreshments will be served cafeteria style, the menu featuring corn on the cob, kielbasa and sauerkraut, sloppy joes and soft drinks.

A bake sale will be another highlight and snack counters will be set up for popcorn, cotton candy and sno-cones.

The public is invited to attend the church's first sponsorship of a festival which it hopes will become an annual event. Elton Gollwitzer is chairing the festivities.

Two hearty dinner meals

Cabbage, peppers in abundance? Roll 'em, stuff 'em with pork

Summer gardens are at their peak and fairly bursting with goodies for the table. With all that fresh produce available, imaginative cooks are always looking for new and interesting ways to prepare the garden bounty.

Here are two recipes featuring ground pork which make use of green peppers in one case and cabbage in another — two ways of varying your meals while using those good, wholesome vegetables.

Pork Stuffed Cabbage Rolls

1 1/2 pounds ground pork
1 medium cabbage
2 quarts boiling water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon dill weed
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, chopped
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
1 egg
1 can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
1 cup cooked rice
1/4 cup boiling water
Flour for gravy, if desired
Paprika, if desired

Cut core from cabbage, place head in saucepan, add boiling water and cook 3 to 4 minutes. Drain cabbage and remove and reserve 12 leaves as they become flexible. Sprinkle salt, dill weed and pepper over ground pork. Add onion, celery, egg and 1/2 cup of cheese soup; stir lightly to combine. Stir in cooked rice and divide meat mixture into 12 equal parts. Place one portion of meat mixture in each cabbage leaf. Roll leaves and fold ends to enclose filling; place rolls, seam-side down, in large frying-pan. (Rolls can be secured with small round wooden picks, if necessary.) Add 1/4 cup water, cover tightly and cook 30 minutes. Add remaining cheese soup and cook, covered, 10 minutes or until cabbage and pork are done.

Remove rolls to warm platter; thicken cheese sauce with flour, if desired, and serve over rolls. Sprinkle with paprika, if desired. 6 servings of 2 rolls each.

Savory Pork-Stuffed Peppers

1 1/2 pounds ground pork
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) cream of celery soup
1 can (7 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
1 medium onion, finely chopped
3 large green peppers
6 tomato slices, cut 1/4 inch thick
Salt
Parmesan cheese

Lightly brown ground pork in large frying-pan; pour off drippings. Sprinkle salt and pepper over meat. Add celery soup, corn and onion and cook slowly 10 to 12 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut green peppers in half lengthwise and remove membrane and seeds; cook in boiling salted water for 2 minutes; invert and drain thoroughly. Fill pepper halves with meat mixture and place on rack in roasting pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Sprinkle salt on both sides of tomato slices and place on top of stuffed peppers. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and bake 15 minutes longer. 6 servings.

Romulus Wesleyan has new pastor

REV. ROBERTS

Several churches in the East Michigan district of the Wesleyan Church had a change of pastors last month. Romulus Wesleyan was one of them.

The Rev. David Standfest, who served the Romulus church for the last five years, has become the new pastor at North Lakeport, a community near Port Huron.

The new pastor in Romulus is The Rev. James J. Roberts, who has been pastor in Lapeer. He moved into the parsonage at 36490 Goddard Road July 28. The Rev. Roberts is a graduate of Circleville Bible College in Circleville, Ohio. His wife Nancy has done considerable work in nursing homes. The Robertses have two sons, Bruce, 13, and Larry, 11.

You can't find us?

Guess we just take for granted that people will automatically know where the Belleville Enterprise-Romulus Roman offices are located.

But last week a gentlemen, bringing in a very nice news item, told us he had a heck of a time locating the office (not having an address with which to work.)

For those not familiar with the city of Belleville, here's a little help for future trips. We are at 116 Fourth Street, right in the heart of the city. The new NBD building is to our left (with Roys Street separating us) and the old NBD structure is to our right (with Fourth Street as a divider.)

We are in the old Van Buren Township Hall, which sits on a little block of its own, sharing acreage with the Van Buren Township Fire Station and a municipal parking lot.

We really AREN'T tucked away; it just takes a turn right or left off Main Street (depending on which direction you're heading) to be at our door (the side entrance, don't forget.)

Drop in and see us, we have a very nice office with some very nice personnel including the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce twosome.

Pudding Pops add milk to kids' diet

Children live in a very special kind of world — uncomplicated and simply wonderful. The fact that you may be wrestling with balancing the household budget may not have much impact on the youngsters. But they're sure to sound forth with groans of disappointment if you announce curtailment of company, including the steady stream of young friends who gravitate to your house.

Perhaps your most immediate concern is a special occasion — birthday, holiday or impromptu party with several children. You want a really marvelous kids' treat that you can prepare quickly and possibly from the staples on hand without any great outlay of money or time.

There are so many possibilities for a variety of treats using Jell-O instant pudding and pie filling. Frozen Pudding Pops are as party-like as the youngsters' spirits and they can be prepared far enough in advance to leave you free for other tasks. Pudding mix is prepared according to package directions for pudding and poured into 5-ounce paper cups. Wooden or plastic spoons are inserted into each for a handle. Press a square of aluminum foil or wax paper down onto the pudding to cover, piercing the center of the square with the handle. Freeze until firm, about five hours, before serving.

There's a party bonus only you know about. You've added the nutrition of milk to the children's diet.

Frozen Pudding Pops

- 1 package (4-serving size) instant pudding and pie filling, any flavor
 - 2 cups cold milk
- Prepare pudding mix with milk as directed on package for pudding. Pour into six 5-ounce paper cups. Insert wooden or plastic spoon into each for a handle. Freeze until firm, at least 5 hours. Press firmly on bottom of cup to release pop. Makes six.
- Peppermint Pops. Prepare Frozen Pudding Pops as directed, using chocolate instant pudding and pie filling. Just before serving, gently press crushed peppermint candy on top and along sides of pops in decorative design.
- Two-Tone Pops. Prepare Frozen Pudding Pops twice as directed above, preparing 2 different flavor puddings separately, and alternately spooning puddings into 12 cups.

Frozen treats on a stick

Special occasions for children's treats can be handled quickly and economically with staples most often found on a kitchen shelf. Frozen Pudding Pops start with prepared pudding mix which is frozen in paper cups. Wooden or plastic spoons are inserted into each for a handle. They're ready to be served after freezing for about five hours. (Photo courtesy Jell-O instant pudding and pie filling.)

Two speakers highlight ABWA dinner meeting

Hazel Bigham, current public relations chairman for the Huron Valley Charter Chapter, American Business Women's Association (ABWA), was presented with a dozen white carnations in recognition of her efforts as last year's bulletin and program chairman. The new chapter president, Edith Davenport, made the presentation at the Aug. 4 meeting of ABWA held at Nickerson Farms Restaurant in Belleville.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Chris Bentley, owner of Bentley Nursery and Gallery, who stressed her belief that "busy hands are happy hands" and that a hobby can add 10 to 15 years to one's life. It is good therapy, she said, especially for senior citizens and restless youths.

She feels the highlight of her shop is "Chris' Freebies", where for just the cost of a canvas, anyone can learn to paint and complete an oil in less than three hours.

The vocational speaker was Mary Braden, secretary at Willow Run High School.

Round-up time is scheduled for Sept. 15. This is an annual fall enrollment event and membership is by invitation only.

For further information, interested business women may contact the membership chairman, Caroline Hesson, at 485-0431 or 481-0400, Ext. 221.

Reunion hails family's return from Hawaii

By LEESMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The Johnnie Thurston family's return to the Mainland after an absence of three years was cause for celebration — a family reunion being held to welcome them home. S-Sgt. Thurston, his wife and two youngsters, Brian and Teresa, who have been in Hawaii, arrived at Detroit Metro Airport July 6 and two days later said their "alohas" to some 44 members of the Redden clan who gathered to greet them.

The get-together was also occasion to mark the birthdays of Christine Sparks, Cathy Jones, Randy Redden and Carey Griffith, and to wish Mr. and Mrs. Donald Griffith a happy wedding anniversary. Three cakes were decorated by Mrs. Dorothy Hoerig of Belleville especially for the party. Gifts were presented to the honored guests who, along with their relatives, enjoyed picnicking and swimming at Van Buren Park.

Members attending were all from Michigan and Ohio; the Ohio contingent including Exie Redden of Portsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. George Sparks and foster daughter, Terry Puckett, of Bellefontaine; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Williams and daughter, Lisa, of Lucasville; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Williams of Wheelersburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Redden and daughter, Stacey, of Minford.

Representing their home area were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jones of Alden Drive; the Estel Reddens and their children, Janet, Tawna, Marty, Paul, Stephen, Randy and Sharon of Haggerty Road; Mrs. Carolyn Barnes and sons, Danny and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Griffith and son, Gregg of Willis Road; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Griffith and daughter, Wendy, of Belleville Road.

Others from Michigan were Mr. and Mrs. Terry Griffith and their two, David and Carey of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine Stoddard and daughter, Heather, of Ypsilanti; and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harrison and their children, Lee, Debra and Karlene of Riverview.

Grandparents play 'tour guides'

A tour of central Michigan was on the agenda recently for two lucky Belleville youngsters, Mindy and Chris Hensley of Potter Drive. With their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daley of Ash Drive, they combined education along with their fun-filled trip.

On their itinerary was a 2-day stop at the old German settlement of Frankenmuth where they visited Bronner's for a touch of Christmas in the middle of summer; watched and listened to the fascinating workings and sounds of a calliope and tried the world-famous chicken at both Fischer's and Zender's restaurants.

Their stop at the Huckleberry Railroad in Flint included Crossroads Village for a glimpse of the county's life style some 100 years ago and a performance of the University of Michigan's marionettes depicting past years in Michigan.

At the State Capitol in Lansing, they were taken on a personal tour arranged by Rep. Gary Owens. The finale of their journey was a tour of the Kellogg plant at Battle Creek.

Mindy, 11, and Chris, seven, are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hensley of Potter Drive.

Wedding brings relatives together

The Aug. 5 wedding of Brian Shephard and Nancy Ostrowski brought several of Brian's relatives in from Iowa for a 5-day stay with his parents, Art and Verdys Shephard of Elwell Road.

Albert and Levada Gadae came from Sumner, Floyd Hoppes from Waterloo and Dorothy Reid from Oelwein for the happy occasion.

On Sunday the Shephards, the Roger Ferguson family and the Ray Ostrowski family were at Detroit Metro Airport at 9 a.m. to see the newlyweds off to Hawaii on their 10-day honeymoon. After the Shephards and Fergusons had attended church services, they joined the Iowa delegation and other guests who came in for a family reunion at the Shephard's.

The one o'clock potluck included Richard and Ivy Jahncke of Montrose; Elaine Delmotte and children from Roseville; Earl and Leila Wallis and family of Ypsilanti; Dave and Glen James and family of Trenton; Bill and Lucille Nelson of Traverse City; Grove and Iva Shephard of Boynton Beach, Fla. and Barney and Sandy Killbride of Detroit.

Local attendees were Jim and Pat Shephard and children, Roger and Diane Ferguson and their trio, Fay and Mary Ferguson and Bob Ferguson and his children.

Games and dancing were all part of the fun with a hot dog roast later in the evening. The group also celebrated Art's Aug. 4 birthday and the 41st wedding anniversary of their host couple which was Aug. 8. A special cake, made and decorated by Vi Laurie to resemble "Big Bird" of Sesame Street, was presented to the "birthday boy" for cutting.

Here 'n there—around town

Newcomers to the Belleville area, moving recently from Trenton, are the Kanes — Michael and Betty and their three children, Shelley, Elizabeth and Sean — who are calling 40900 Bemis Road "home." The Kanes are in the process of completing their new ranch home.

BACK HOME after a 5-day visit with their grandparents in Toledo, Ohio are Annette and Caroline Lewis of Romulus. As houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lewis, they enjoyed visiting and picnicking at the Toledo Zoo; attending their cousin, Cindy Lewis' 13th birthday party and a day at Cedar Pointe with Cindy and her parents, Jack and Claire Lewis.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Having a party? Giving a shower? Getting the family together for the annual reunion? Out-of-state visitors or visiting yourself? Back from a vacation? Give us a call at 697-9191 and we'll include your news in an upcoming Around Town column. Simple as that!)

Balloons to be set loose as reading program finale

The Belleville Public Library is sporting a kaleidoscope of color these mid-summer days. There are balloons everywhere!

The children who are participating in the summer reading program have earned one balloon for every four books they have read and it is obvious that they have been working very hard.

Aug. 26 is the final day for the program. The party for the children will be Tuesday, Aug. 30, at 2 p.m. All those who have read at least 10 books may attend. There will be refreshments, courtesy Colonel Sanders, and 200 helium-filled balloons will be sent aloft with the young readers' names on them. Hopefully the balloons will travel miles away and some interesting answers will be received.

Watch the skies as the flock of balloons leave the patio at the library on Aug. 30. The barrage will celebrate and recognize a job well done by the youngsters in the summer reading program.

Anniversary forms available

For those marking wedding anniversaries with celebrations and parties, we have special anniversary forms to fill out. The questionnaires include all the pertinent information needed for putting a story together.

If you are planning to celebrate an anniversary and would like your friends to read about it in The Belleville Enterprise of The Romulus Roman, simply stop by our office at 116 Fourth St., Belleville, or telephone the Suburban Living Editor, Lee Smith, at 697-9191 to have a form mailed out.

We will be happy to accept photographs if they meet with our specifications. Please include one if it's available.

There is no charge for this service.

Wards have new daughter, Amanda

Amanda Jane is the name chosen for the newest addition to the Walter Ward family of 41509 McKinley, Belleville. Walter and Jane welcomed their third child Aug. 1 at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn.

The 6 lb., 12 oz. infant is the new little sister of 8-year-old Alison and 5-year-old Andrew.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sante of Dearborn and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ward of Wayne. The proud great-grandparents are Mrs. William Ward of Tennessee and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Clem of Alabama.

Music Hall gives Detroit what it wants

"Detroit Wants Dance" could well be an official proclamation of metropolitan area residents, and the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts is giving the public what it wants in its 1977-78 season.

During the past four years, the Music Hall's Dance Series has been the most successful of the many attractions the center has offered, attested by critics and proven by thousands of ticket buyers.

Therefore, the Music Hall has signed 11 attractions for Detroit's dance fans, including classical and modern groups, ranging from the ridiculous to the sublime.

The ridiculous refers to the zany "Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo", a group of talented male dancers who spoof traditional ballet — complete with tutus.

The sublime is the Music Hall's Dance Series, for which season tickets currently are available. The series includes six of the world's finest and most interesting companies.

Opening the Series in October will be the innovative Twyla Tharp Dancers. Twyla Tharp is considered by many to be the most important new choreographer in America. In November, the Pennsylvania Ballet comes to Music Hall with the Pennsylvania Orchestra for audiences who enjoy the precision and beauty of a fine classical company.

The next Dance Series attraction is the Eliot Feld Ballet, the sensational new company led by the former American Ballet Theatre star. The Paul Taylor Dance Company will bring their zesty, athletic style to the Music Hall stage in March.

Returning to the Music Hall will be the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, which has proven highly popular with Detroit audiences. Capping the series is the Pilobolus Dance Theatre, a unique troupe described as gymnasts and "sculptors" as well as dancers.

Dance Series tickets and information can be requested by calling 963-6943. Interested organizations should call Joan Heidt at 963-7622 for group ticket information.

Single performance tickets go on sale at the Music Hall Sept. 12.

In addition to the six attractions in the Dance Series, Music Hall has also lined up the Yatra Ukrainian Dancers for Oct. 12, The Hoofers (an extravaganza of tap dancing) on Oct. 21, the Israel Classical Ballet starring Edward Villella on Nov. 20; the Oakland Ballet for holiday presentations of "The Nutcracker" and "Hansel and Gretel" in December; and the Ballets Trockadero for March 8.

The Music Hall is located at 350 Madison Avenue in Detroit.

Dolly Parton headlines Star State Fair lineup

Dolly Parton, and Scotland's Bay City Rollers, who say they picked their name by sticking a pin in the map of the United States, will top the star-studded list of free entertainment scheduled for this year's Michigan State Fair.

So will stuttering Mel Tillis, the Country Music Entertainer of the Year for 1976, and the Sylvers, who sing "Boogie Fever". Della Reese also will be appearing at the fair.

The 11-day annual event will run from Aug. 26 to Sept. 5, Labor Day.

The other headline will be the Hudson Brothers, The Four Freshman and several stars from the Lawrence Welk show. All acts are free to those persons attending the fair.

The full schedule for the top name informers at the 1977 Michigan State Fair will be:

—Aug. 26, Bay City Rollers;
—Aug. 27, Anacani and Tom Netherton of the Lawrence Welk Show;
—Aug. 28, Gail, Sandi and Mary Lou of the Lawrence Welk Show;

—Aug. 29, Myron Floren, Bobby Burgess and Cissy King of the Lawrence Welk Show;

—Aug. 30, The Sylvers;

—Sept. 1-2, The Four Freshmen;

—Sept. 2, Dolly Parton;

—Sept. 3, Mel Tillis;

—Sept. 4, Hudson Brothers; and —Sept. 5, Della Reese.

Each entertainer will perform at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. at the State Fair Music Shell or the Grandstand.

The fair also has scheduled several free outdoor performances every day by the Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band, the Cavalcade of Music, the Jim and Julie Murphy Show and the Royal Danish Circus.

The Hurricane Hell Drivers will appear at the State Fair Grandstand Aug. 31 and Sept. 1. The Michigan State Fair World Championship Rodeo will be held Aug. 27 through 30. These are the only two shows which have an admission charge.

As part of the State Fair's emphasis on free fun for kids, children under 12, accompanied by an adult, are being admitted free throughout the fair. For others admission is $3.

The Michigan State Fair Grand Opening Parade will be held at 11:30 a.m. Aug. 25, in downtown Detroit.

Lifelong dream: Going back to school

By MAUREEN BEATTY

One advantage that comes with age and retirement is time, and now is the perfect time to fulfill a life long dream — return to school.

Senior citizens are doing just that in record numbers. Gray hair is no longer an oddity on campus or in the classroom. Professors and teachers have adjusted to being younger than some of their students, and some authorities have even declared that age improves learning ability. Studying can be easier, once new habits are acquired, with the children no longer running about and disrupting homework. Self assurance is high. Although the fire that drives our youth to achievement might not burn as bright, acceptance of limitations has its own reward. How proud you will be of that passing grade.

Many senior citizens are working toward a degree, but many more are just enjoying the thrill of learning again. Age does not dim the mind, if the body is healthy, and experience makes the senior a little bit superior to the younger student.

Best of all, being busy leaves no time for loneliness, and new acquaintances can be found in every classroom. Interest in your chosen subject, assures you of a common bond.

Wayne County Continuing Education offers a variety of classes in our area, with some non-credit classes being offered free to senior citizens who meet their eligibility requirements. Call Wayne County Continuing Education, or your nearest junior college for a list of fall classes. Or call Wayne County Community College, where there is no charge to senior citizens, and get started on that degree. I'll see you there!

Aches and pains, and misery. Tho I've my share, I'll grin tomorrow, Just for laughter after me.

Laughter is my world of sunshine, And a grin upon a face, Is, to me, a thing of beauty, Candid happiness and grace.

Thus I live in my arena, In my world of fantasy, Quite enough to keep me happy, Long as laughter follows me.

Hertel bill aims to end mandatory retirement at 65

Just turned, 65, a handshake with boss at a retirement luncheon and the usual gold watch. This scene will be an event of the past, if a bill to introduced by State Rep. Dennis Hertel of Detroit is passed.

The bill will do away with mandatory retirement ages for all workers in the State of Michigan.

Rep. Hertel stated his reasons for introducing the legislation: "Approximately 51 percent of this state's citizens 60 years and older reside in the southeastern Michigan area. It has been proven that people who work longer live longer.

"The highest suicide rate for men is among those who are retired and over the age of 64, thereasons givenfor the high rate are depression, alcoholism, illness, and most of all loneliness.

"Sixty-five is not a magic number, it was the age used in the first Social Security plan in Bismark's Germany of the 19th century, and was accepted by the U.S. Congress in 1935 when they created our own Social Security Program. None of these are necessarily good reasons to continue the practice."

Hertel added that "persons who have worked all their lives are forced at the predetermined age of 65 for the private employee and 70 for the state employee to suddenly change from a productive to a non-productive person."

"No matter that there may be many good wage-earning years left in the employee, he or she must retire," he said. "There are some exceptions but for the great majority retirement at a predetermined age is no longer valid."

In discussing the proposal Hertel pointed out that men have a life expectancy of 13 years and women 18 years after retirement at 65, and the mandatory retirement rules put more persons into an already overburdened Social Security system.

Hertel claims that rather than forcing these persons to retire and live on Social Security, we should allow them to choose, if they want, to remain productive members of society and continue to contribute to Social Security as long as they are physically and mentally able to work.

Rep. Hertel further said: "Many persons after retirement don't know how to fill their time. But for most the argument in favor of delaying retirement is purely economic; to continue working and live a decent life or retire and face the remaining years in almost complete poverty.

"Today, only 50 percent of all senior citizens have pensions other than Social Security. If my proposal

Red Cross says 'Give'

Every day of the year, the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Program must supply 85 area hospitals with more than 900 units of blood.

Because the life span of blood is 21 days, there is an ongoing need for volunteer blood donors to insure that hospital patients get blood when they need it.

Red Cross is urging residents to become a volunteer blood donor today. If you are in good health, and between the ages of 17 (with parental permission) and 66, you are eligible to donate blood.

Visit the convenient Dearborn Donor Center at the Village Plaza, 23400 Michigan Avenue, Dearborn, or call 274-5450. Blood donations are accepted on Monday, Tuesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday, from 2 to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Checker Cab Co., which now offers free transportation to senior citizens and disabled persons in Detroit, will expand their free services in September to include other parts of Wayne County. Seniors need only call 24 hours ahead to reserve a cab. The senior's destination may be anywhere in Wayne County.

The following poem was written by the anonymous senior we have heard from before, and from whom I'm sure, we will hear again.

LAUGHTER

Tho I'm poor, and old, and ailing, Lonesome for my Family, Still I'm very rich in spirit; Laughter always follows me.

This old world is full of sorrow,

Escorts finalist back to seat after judging

Joe Benyo, master of ceremonies, leads finalist back to her seat on stage after she was judged in the 1977 Miss Westland beauty pageant at the Westland Shopping Center. A total of 13 contestants competed in finals for the coveted title.

Smile of victory

Flashing her victory smile, Laurie Ann Smith, Miss Westland of 1977, holds her first place trophy as she poses for photographer.

The moment when a contestant's heart stops

Many a beauty pageant contestant's heart seems to stop functioning when she makes that all-important walk in front of the panel of judges in final competition. It was no different for this lovely lass as she parades in front of judges and audience at the 1977 Miss Westland beauty pageant in the Westland Shopping Center. The event was held during the city's annual summer festival celebration, which was called an outstanding success by both city officials and festival sponsors.

Anxious finalists await judges' verdict

Last year's queen, Susan Kozak (at center in black dress wearing crown) and 13 finalists in the 1977 Miss Westland beauty pageant, stand nervously as they await judges' verdict in the naming of this year's queen. Standing third from left is Laurie Ann Smith, who at this moment, did not know she was soon to become Miss Westland 1977.

Making momentous decisions

The most important group at the Miss Westland beauty pageant is this group of judges on whose collective shoulders rest the all-important task of choosing a winner out of 13 beautiful contestants in the annual event. They performed their function nobly, picking Laurie Ann Smith, a five-foot tall, 17-year-old redhead.

Westland's Barracuda Swim Club members have several reasons to smile and one big reason is their recent victory over a tough Garden City Parks team. They also beat

Livonia. Based at John Glenn, the team is coached by the husband-wife combination of Jean and Jerry Garbus. (See story on second sports page.)

No money, no sports in Romulus

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

There is a cloud of frustration and disenchantment hanging over the Romulus School District.

With an alarming $307,000 deficit at the end of the 1976-77 school year, recent state aid will not put a dent in that deficit, according to school officials.

Concerned about the widening financial bulge, the school board has again asked the voters to approve a 8½ mill levy which would raise nearly $1.7 million.

And even with that, the school district will not be bailed out of its present economic dilemma, according to James M. Garfield, superintendent of school.

The 8.5 mill proposal will go to the voters on Sept. 12. They have turned down similar requests in the past.

"Even if the millage passes," said Garfield, "our problems will not be over. We cut nearly $1.4 million from our programs and if the millage doesn't go through, there's going to be even less to look forward to in the school district."

Romulus schools presently levy 27.65 mills ($27.65 per $1,000 in assessed property valuation) and if the new levy passes it will bring the total of 36.15 mills.

Whether the millage passes or fails, Romulus will not have an athletic program this year.

"We are not going to restore competitive sports this year," Garfield stresses. "That is a fact that all of us around here know. Even if the millage passes on Sept. 12, that would be too late for the football season."

According to Michigan High School Athletic Association rules, high school football teams must have at least three weeks of practice prior to their first game.

Garfield pointed out that the "restoration of sports would not be a first priority because we have a lot of other priorities."

Last year coaches and athletes helped raise enough money to salvage the football and cross country season. Would the board approve a similar program this year?

The feeling around here is that if you're going to restore any program, then you must restore all," Garfield noted. He also put a price tag of between $50,000 to $75,000 to keep some of the sport programs alive.

Though he didn't see a mass exodus of coaches from the school district, Garfield believed some of the coaches would leave if they had offers from other school districts.

"Obviously coaches don't make their living on the salaries we pay them for coaching," Garfield said. "We don't pay these people enough. They make their living from their salaries as teachers."

"And, I expect some of these coaches will leave if they find the right spots."

The reality of all of this hasn't sunk in, as yet.

But, when the second week of September rolls around when most prep teams start their season, it will.

There's going to be a lot of disenchantment people in Romulus this year.

We hope that that is all they will be.

Before I leave the scene, I would like to thank my reliable "ghost writer", George Whitehead for a superb job during my brief two-weeks vacation.

The old pro knows how to pound out a story and we'd like to see him lifted from the ranks of ghost writer to a permanent member of this staff some day.

And, to all athletic directors who haven't mailed in their fall sports schedules, please do. Can't start the season around here without them.

MHSAA sets grid, cage talks

The Michigan High School Athletic Association announced this week that it will hold 18 football rules meetings this month.

One of the sites chosen for a meeting is Livonia Bentley. The meeting will be held beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Wed., Aug. 31.

Coaches, officials and interested persons are invited to attend the meetings which will go over "Pertinent MHSAA matter", "1977 Football Rules Changes" and "Points of Emphasis in the Football Rules."

A MHSAA representative will be on hand to discuss and answer rules and a movie, "Point of Contact" will be shown.

There also will be 12 Girls Basketball Rules Meetings held between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1. The nearest area host is Southfield High where the meeting is scheduled for Thurs., Aug. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

Along with discussing new rules, coaches, officials and the audience will see a movie, "Winning Ways".

It's football season!

ATTEND HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC EVENTS!

Gridders begin practice

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The 1977 high school football season officially began on Monday. But, not for all area high schools. Romulus High will not field a team for the first time in recent history, according to James M. Garfield, superintendent of schools.

The rest of the area schools, including Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Belleville, Cherry Hill, Inkster, Plymouth Salem and Canton, Livonia Franklin, Churchill and Inkster started their drills.

Garden City schools — East and West — received a last minute reprieve from the state legislature as the school district will receive approximately $174,000 in state aid.

That aid will be utilized, in part, to restore competitive high school athletics, according to Donald Beatty, deputy superintendent of Garden City Schools.

"We will have a reasonably well-balanced sports program this fall," Beatty said. "The state legislature passed and the governor signed a state aid bill which included a factor for school districts with declining enrollment."

"As a result of the passage of that bill, we anticipate approximately $174,000 of which some of the monies will be earmarked for the restoration of athletics and band," Beatty added.

Garden City East competes in the Northwest Suburban Conference and most of the league teams such as Glenn and Livonia Franklin were forced to find other opponents for their scheduled game with East. That problem now has been resolved.

West is affiliated with the Tri-River Conference and second year coach Mike Copeland will have to hustle to reorganize a staff which had scattered.

Copeland, moreover, reportedly had accepted an assistant coaching job at Thurston and the recent chain of events has caused him to hurriedly assemble his team.

The Great Lakes 8 Conference, one of the strongest grid leagues in the area, also has problems. Voters in Taylor turned down millages which would enable league affiliates Taylor Truman and Taylor Center to field teams.

At present, no one is certain if the Taylor schools will compete in the league this season.

Winekoff 'touring world'

Belleville's Winekoff brothers — Carl and Rick — are seeing a lot of this world, thanks to their wrestling skills.

The two young wrestlers have accomplished more and travelled farther than many seasoned grapplers.

Rick, who is 15-years-old, is presently in Iran with Team Michigan which is touring the mid-eastern country. He'll be wrestling against some of the best junior wrestlers in Iran.

Also in Iran with Team Michigan is Wayne's Joe Glass.

The tour was made possible by a Michigan-Iran Cultural Exchange and through local donations.

Carl meanwhile placed second at the AAU grand nationals held in Lincoln, Neb. The 16-year-old Belleville High sophomore checks in at 138-pounds. He has trained with the United States Junior Pan Am Team which will be heading for Mexico to participate in the multi-sports AAU Junior Olympics.

Carl has lost only one match and that was to Tony Differ, defending world champ at 138.

Inkster seeks touch gridders

The Inkster Parks and Recreation Department is seeking two more teams to complete its fall touch football league.

The league will begin action on Sept. 11, and there is a 7 p.m., Thurs., Aug. 18 organizational meeting scheduled at the Westwood Park Field House.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning the recreation offices at 565-4100.

Romulus crowns gal softball champs

It's all over in the Romulus Women's softball leagues.

Defending champ, the Young Pioneers, wrapped up the Class A softball title after finishing the season with a 12-2 record.

Romulus Progressive Club, which had the distinction of beating the reigning champs 3-1, emerged in second place thanks to a 11-3 won-lost ratio.

Meanwhile, over in Class B, Meadow Lanes claimed the championship after breezing through a 13-1 season. They had no problems as the next closest team to the top of the standings, Nemos, had at least three losses tied to its record.

The Pioneers received a superb pitching effort from Rose Thoms throughout the season and she received ample hitting and defensive support from a flock of players.

The Pioneers' line-up included Tammy Kitchens, Debbie Kitchens, Gloria Thoms, Priscilla Gray, Jane Shaffer, Nora Hatcher, Chandra Brown, Rhonda Summers, Carol Roberson, Cathy McPhee.

Other team members are Theresa Gibson, Kim Aulrich, Anne and Audrey Sczyndlar and Lisa Moomaw.

The teams will battle for the city championship which got underway on Tuesday. The championship will be decided Sunday night.

P.J.'s has Westland softball title sewed up

Minor League leader has 2-game cushion

Hurdling two of its final rivals, P.J.'s Lounge stretched its winning streak to 10 games in Westlands Red Division Men's Minor softball league.

And with those two wins, the pacesetter has all but sewed up the 1977 championship.

P.J.'s has a 10-0 record and its closest rival, Crestwood Dodge, is in second sporting a 8-2 mark. With a two game cushion, P.J.'s bid for the title doesn't appear in jeopardy.

P.J.'s humbled Yardarm Bar 13-1 as winning pitcher Bob Fullerton missed posting a shutout. Then he gave up a run in the top of the seventh. Fullerton tossed an eight-hitter as Gary Rolek and Chuck Britton split four safeties. Ron Cooper laced a run-scoring double for the losers.

Steve Fedulchuck paced the winner's attack as he blasted three homers and a single off of losing pitcher Chuck Meddle. Fullerton helped his own cause with a pair of singles and a triple and also drove home two runs, while Mike O'Brien checked in with two hits.

P.J.'s erupted for nine runs in the sixth inning to overpower the Hawks 20-7 earlier in the week. Fullerton again was the winning pitcher as he served up seven hits, including a double and single to Jim Sedik.

Gary Miller and Tom Bourgeois each laced run-scoring singles for the losers.

Fullerton got to losing pitcher Bourgeois for four hits, including a homer, a pair of doubles and a single which accounted for four RBIs. Wilson also checked in with four hits, a pair of triples, a single and double while Rick Korzon latched on to three hits and two RBIs.

Crestwood Dodge tightened its grip on second place with a convincing 13-7 victory over Johnny's Union 76 as winning pitcher Pat Mulroy tossed a 13-hitter.

John Stivers, Rich Sharp and Monty Gabriel split two hits between them for the losers while Mulroy and John Sampson each homered for the winners. Ron Miller chipped in a couple of doubles for Crestwood.

Crestwood Dodge's hopes of catching the frontrunners were shattered earlier in the week by Quo Vadis which upset the second place place team 13-1. Crestwood eluded the shutout by scoring a run in the third inning.

Winning pitcher Mike Bjek scattered nine Crestwood Dodge hits, two each to Randy Tempke and Fred Russell. Larry Mulroy doubled for the losers.

Bjek was also instrumental at the plate where he belted a homer, triple and single — good for three runs batted in. Teammate Jim Moriarty, who hammered two homers and singled, drove home five runs. Mark Price also homered for the winners.

Crestwood Dodge erupted for six runs in the first inning and added four more in the second en route to a 13-4 victory over the Over the Hill Gang.

Mulroy, the winning hurler, also remained "hot" at the plate as he stroked a homer and a pair of singles to drive in two runs. John Sampson blasted an over-the-fence homer and tripled which counted for three RBIs while Temple's contribution in-

Club held its annual Junior Olympics at Attwood Pool.

The awards were presented Friday night at the Dolphin Awards Banquet, also an annual event which signifies the end of the summer season.

Over 100 boys and girls from Wayne and Westland participated in the Junior Olympics at the 50-yard Attwood Pool and each received at least one ribbon.

Medals were awarded for places one through three, and ribbons through seventh place.

Each swimmer was allowed to enter only three events in his or her age category, making three gold medals for first place a perfect effort.

Trophies and awards were also distributed for most improved swimmers and Swim-A-Thon accomplishment.

Jeff Albert and Marlene Kowalski, both relatively newcomers to the Dolphin program, claimed three first places in the eight-and-under age category of their respective sex categories. Each won races in the 50-yard freestyle, backstroke and breaststroke.

Mike Greuber took three golds in the 10-under boys' division, while Eric Head and Mary Batterson, participating in the 11-12 age group handily won three each, as did Catherine Batterson in the girls' 13-14 age group, and Tom Brown, in the 15-over category.

Winners of two gold medals were Todd Melanshek, boys' 11-12; Randy Ferguson and Mark Newman, boys' 13-14; Sarah O'Kray and Kris Balwinski, 10-under girls, and Teri Discher and Kelley Batterson, for girls' 15-over category.

Other first-place winners included Bob Henson, Katie Greuber, Keith Head, Sandy Burns, Diane Brown, Andy Balsinski, Lisa Mondock, Gretchen Batterson, Dan Butler, Jim Watts and Renee Whitson.

Eric Head and Teri Discher were awarded trophies as most valuable swimmers, while most-improved trophies went to Jeff Albert, Marlene Kowalski, both eight-under age group; Keith Head and Kris Balwinski, 10-under; Kris Whitehead and Doug White, 11-12; Lisa Mondock and Jim Daniels, 13-14, and Kelly Batterson and Dan Butler, 15-18 years.

Tops in first division

Emerging from the hotly-contested Class B, First Division with the coveted crown in Wayne, Burghuff Bar will try to add the playoff title to its list of accomplishments this season. Members of the team are Bob Jaskolski (kneeling, from left), Dave Seaman, Dave

Area drivers are doing well at Flat Rock Speedway

Area drivers have shifted into fast gear at Flat Rock Speedway as Westland Fran Harden, Belleville's Ed Briggs and Canton's Denny Pace got a piece of the action last week.

Veteran driver Joy Fair grabbed his fifth feature win of the season Saturday night at Flat Rock Speedway. Fair got by Jim Smith of Corunna, Ontario on lap 11 and went on to victory.

Buddy Bennett of Lake Orion was second, Danny Byrd of Dearborn Heights, Michigan third, Ed Cooper of Clark Lake, fourth, and Jim Smith fifth.

Byrd set fast time with a 12:61. Fair won the four car dash. Heat wins went to Pace of Canton Township, Harden of Westland and Rich Seeley of Taylor. The pursuit was taken by Ray Barnard of Ypsilanti, Michigan, and the consolation race by Bob Fredrick of Clawson, Michigan.

The Figure 8 feature was wild with the lead changes and near-crashes at the intersection. Ed Briggs of Belleville took the checkered flag ahead of brother John Briggs of Ypsilanti and Bob Studt of Dearborn Heights.

Studt took the top spot in qualifying with a 14:41. Drury Ramsey of Detroit took the dash, with Jack Dandy of Taylor, Paul Nascief of Newport, Michigan, and Don Zwilling winning heat races. Studt also won the pursuit.

Johnny Hi of Flat Rock scored his first feature win in the Street Stock division. Chuck Payne and Len Jaynes followed.

Rick Bundon of Detroit has fast time with a 15:99. Heat winners were Chuck Payne, Sandy Pilch, Glen Franks, Lewis Toth, and Jim Collins.

Don't miss the wild, exciting action next Saturday night at Flat Rock Speedway. The Late Models, Figure 8's, and Street Stocks will all be in action. Time trails begin at 6:30 and racing at 8:00 p.m.

Flat Rock Speedway is located 1 mile south of Flat Rock on Telegraph Road (U.S. 24).

Westland's Barracudas 'putting it together'

Finally putting all the pieces together, the Westland Barracuda Swim Club completed what has to be termed a successful season last week by combining with Garden City Parks and Recreation to defeat Livonia "Y" Blue Racers, 448-337.

The dual-meet encounter ended the 1977 summer campaign. It has been an uphill struggle for Coaches Jean and Jerry Garbus, who have tried several times in recent years to make the Barracuda program work, but this season all their efforts were rewarded.

The Barracudas, whose home pool is John Glenn High School, entered several Amateur Athletic Union events this summer and participated in two invitationals.

"We still have a ways to go before our program is to the point we are looking for," said Jerry Garbus.

"But at least we got good participation and a fine start on future organization."

Caesar's captures Canton crown

Performing much like its professional namesake, the Little Caesar team of the Canton Township Women's Division displayed its own brand of softball expertise and won the division championship.

The Canton girls brushed aside Meijers Thrifty Acres, its last obstacle in a perfect season, 14-2, to end the campaign with a 12-0 win-loss mark.

Meijer had 10 wins in 12 starts to finish second.

Lee Jaskolski paced the Caesar squad with three hits in four trips to the plate, while Carole Smith justified her selection as an all-star with a triple and a single.

Meijer went into the game needing a victory, and for a brief while it looked like the challengers were going to make it a good fight.

But Debbie (Goobar) Smith ripped a single to spark Caesar's five-run uprising in the fourth inning and it was all uphill for the winners.

Diane Jaskolski and Rita Spaulding shared the pitching duties for Little Caesar and limited Meijer's to only four hits, three by Shelly Arner.

Janice Tunison and Pam Flanigan each had two hits for Little Caesars.

Meanwhile, Perlongo picked off its 14th victory and a firm hold on the Canton Township Men's Softball League Division B leadership by edging Latin Quarter, 7-6.

Terry Ransier had four hits to aid his own pitching cause, while Ron Bills, Dale Butzin and Orv Butzin each had two.

Gary Sinevick electrified the Perlongo attack with a tremendous home run.

In other Division B action, Meijer Thrifty Acre topped Lion and the Sword, 14-9, as Don Riffenburg rifled a roundtripper and Tom LaPorte and Joe Shanabrook each added three hits.

Richard (Quick) Barr was the biggest thorn in pitcher Mark Harley's side as he collected a walk, two singles and a solo homer for the losers.

In tournament action last week, George Smith Realty trounced Century Farms — Amroy Canton 22-3.

Smith erupted for seven runs in the first inning and added 15 more through six frames to register its first tournament victory.

Larry Loufra supplied the punch for Smith with a home run and a single. Shortstop Dale Ochodnicki chipped in with two singles for the Smith Squad.

Dale Larson collected a double and a walk for Century Farms-Amroy Canton.

In a close contest, Lion & The Sword edged the Canton Police 11-10. The Lion & The Sword collected three runs in the bottom of the sixth and held off the Policemen's assault in the top of the seventh to post the victory.

The Lion & The Swords Pat Frehi proved to be the hero of the evening

Westland's Sandy Koufax gains district championship

After a resounding Amateur Athletic Baseball Congress district tournament win in Detroit, Westland's Sandy Koufax team ran out of steam in regional play and saw a six-run lead disappear and a seventh-inning rally fall short as its season came to an abrupt end.

Westland dropped a 5-3 verdict to East Lansing — eventual regional tournament victory — and then lost to Plymouth Dale, 8-7, in a heart-breaker. The two losses eliminated Westland from AABC post-season play.

The Westland team, a group of youths 14 years old and under, selected early in the year to represent the Westland Babe Ruth program in Sandy Koufax League play.

In gaining its AABC district championship, Westland jumped off to a commanding lead and coasted home on the strong arm of Billy Fox. Mike Blair unloaded a run-scoring single to put Westland in front and the local charges were never headed.

In earlier games, Jeff Bronson scattered three hits as Westland downed Riverside (Ontario), and tallied twice in the ninth inning for a 6-4 victory over Detroit PAL. Westland gained the championship game as Jim Heilman scattered five hits and his mates chipped in timely hits for a 3-1 win.

Blair went the distance in the opening round of regional play as Westland scored a 9-5 decision over Ottawa (Michigan), but then "Lady Luck" deserted the team of all-stars.

East Lansing jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first inning and staved off a Koufax surge to hand Westland its first defeat in the two-loss-elimination tournament. Bronson and Brad George were tagged with the loss.

The tough defeat seemed to be forgotten quickly, however, as Westland took a 6-0 commanding lead against Plymouth Dale, but Fox was unable to keep the Plymouth team in check as it tallied three times in the sixth inning and five more in the seventh for an 8-6 lead.

A single and Rick Melanshek's double closed the gap to 8-7, but Plymouth tightened its defenses to get the final two outs and its win.

Members of the Westland Sandy Koufax team were Jeff Bronson, Brad George, Jim Heilman, Phil Rogers, Pete Tavana, Dennis Gagnon, Mike Blair, Billy Fox, A. (Larry) Kholmman, Dave Okoney, Marty Salazar, Greg O'Neil, Bob Raymond, Brian Beer and Rick Melanshek.

Tartar freshman

Mike Grabowski, who played high school football at Westland John Glenn High, is one of 150 candidates who began fall practice with Wayne State University this week. Grabowski is listed on the Tartar roster as a defensive lineman.

Every inch counts

Where titles and medals are determined by inches and feet, Stella Morgan strives to get every possible inch she can in her performance of the standing broad jump. Miss Morgan, competing in the recent Inkster Track & Field Meet, finished second to a Dearborn Heights' athlete, Beth Skelton, and was forced to settle for second place.

Gordon names Glenn grid coaching staff

Chuck Gordon, recently-named head football coach at John Glenn High School, this week announced his coaching staff for the coming season as the Rockets open pre-season drills in preparation for defense of its Northwest Suburban League championship.

The Glenn football entourage left Monday for a week of training at a camp in Hale Michigan.

Joining Gordon's staff is Dan Henry, Dennis Healy, Jim Juras and Al Dobrovolec. Bill Camp and Bill Kelley will handle duties for the Glenn junior varsity.

Henry, an assistant last year after three with the jayvee team, will be defensive coordinator in the 1977 John Glenn program. A graduate of Eastern Michigan University and a product of Riverview High, Henry also will take over head coaching duties for the Glenn junior varsity basketball team.

Healy headed the gridiron program at Adams Junior High School last year after three years as an assistant. Also a graduate of Eastern Michigan, Healy's duties will be the defensive and offensive interior line. Adding to with Gordon's "local flavor," Healy is a graduate of Dearborn Sacred Heart High School.

Juras will have charge of the defensive backs, tight ends and slot backs. An assistant at Stevenson Junior High for two years, he is a graduate of the University of Missouri, having played on teams in both the Gator and Sugar bowls.

Dobrovolec, who will tutor the defensive ends and aid with the offensive line, is a product of the Kennedy High School staff who was enlisted by Gordon when Taylor dropped its football program. He is a graduate of Hiram College in Ohio's gridiron rich territory.

Camp was an assistant for one year before taking over the junior varsity reins, while Kelley is returning to his high school alma mater after completing a collegiate career at Wayne State University.

Tri-captains for the 1977 Rocket team are Bill Lee, a quarterback; Jerry Cook, slot back, and Tom Jurewicz, a defensive end and offensive tackle.

Gordon took over the head coaching duties this year, replacing Jerry Lutri, who moved on to Eastern Michigan's staff. Gordon served as offensive coordinator and assistant under Lutri last season when John Glenn High registered a 9-0 record for the league championship and state recognition.

Night chinook fishing lures avid anglers

By SAM GRISSOM
Outdoor Writer

The time of year is here for our annual trip to Manistee Lake. Every August we head to the mouth of the Little Manistee river to still fish for chinook at night.

Driven by the need to reproduce, the big salmon move in unbelievable numbers into Manistee Lake. Since the water temperature of the Manistee rivers is usually higher than the desired range, they will school off the river mouths, waiting for cooler weather to drop the water to 54 degrees. At this time the big trophies are particularly numerous to the still fisherman in a small boat.

I row a small aluminum boat to an area of the lake just off the river mouth, in about 10 feet of water. I place a large nightcrawler on a No. 6 hook with no weight, cast it out, set a light amount of drag on my reel, and sit back and relax.

Once you've set lines there's nothing to do but wait. Well armed with insect repellent, sandwiches, and coffee, one can swap lies with a fishing buddy or listen to the night sounds. A car honking somewhere on the highway, frogs croaking, crickets, a large chinook jumping, or some guy trying to console his better half, who is making the fishing trip for her first time.

I'm all for family fishing; but Manistee Lake with its bugs, and the smell of the paper mill closing your nostrils, is not likely to convert many wives into night fishing devotees.

And then it happens. First a steady pull makes your reel's drag start to talk. You grab your rod, set the hook, and it's almost jerked from your hands. Twenty five pounds of chinook just got angry. He's felt the hook and he's fighting back to Lake Michigan where those kind of things never happened to him.

Your fishing buddy pulls-up the anchor and suddenly you're aware that the boat is starting to slip through the water after the elusive trophy. When that happened to Gregory Peck in the movie "Moby Dick" he had problems. What kind of fish have you got a hold of? With 300 yards of 10-pound test line on your reel you start to wonder is he's going to stop. Then your line goes slack.

Grumbling as you start to reel your line back in you realize he only changed direction. Cranking like mad, you try to regain the lost line as he zooms by to the other side of the boat.

Finally after about thirty minutes you see him in the meager glow of your flashlight. As your partner slides the net under 3 1/2 feet of salmon you try and act as if it's no big deal.

Still fishing for salmon can be very slow and boring. But it can also be good enough that Buck Ryder of Plymouth wouldn't dream of going through an August without a few nights of salmon fishing on Manistee Lake.

Any talk about salmon always brings up the subject of snagging. While it is true that they no longer feed but will strike anything that comes in their path, snagging is not necessary.

Besides not being very sporting, it is a ideal way to break equipment, destroy trout and other fish, and injure fellow anglers. I've seen a snagging hook, with its deadly load of lead, rip the eye of a bystander who was there to watch the jumping fish. I think the loss of one man's eyesight is reason enough to oppose snagging.

Romulus' senior baseball champs

Though they found the going rough at times, Canejo Trucking managed to wind up with a 12-4 won-lost record which enabled it to claim the 1977 Romulus South Little League Senior Baseball Championship. Members of the team include David Neimann (kneeling, from left), Bill Toner, Francisco Olmos, Patty Kennedy, Mark Doss and

Cub Scout softball program attracts 400

Winning is certainly a vital part of sports, but if participation is any criteria, the Cub Scouts of Wayne, Westland and Garden City unquestionably can point to 1977 as a most successful year.

Upwards of 400 boys between the ages of 7 and 11 years from the three communities competed in a softball program with 19 cub scout packs represented. The program consisted of instruction, regular-season play and an eventual playoff championship.

The Tigers, representing Club Pack 774, is proudly displaying the 1977 championship trophy at Wildwood School, its home field, after winning 18 of 19 games during the regular season and then capturing the playoffs.

The Tigers, victors in the West Division (Wayne-Westland), defeated the Eastern Division champion Cub Pack 873 (Garden City area), 28-7, to claim its prize.

Nino Stabile coached the Tigers and Mark Berna and Kelly Johnson alternated as bat boys.

Johnson was elated over the success of the program. "The managers, coaches, umpires and parents should be very proud," he said, "for this is the finest display of sportsmanship and cooperation I have ever witnessed."

who will be out for track and basketball are urged to report for the physicals.

Coaches for the various sports will be on hand.

There is no cost for the physical examinations, according to Hamel. No Michigan High School athlete may compete in sports without physicals, the MHSSA has ruled.

Kaseta, Long captain U-D's cage machine

Plagued with injuries at the start of the 1976-77 season, ex-Livonia Franklin all-state, all-area cager, Kevin Kaseta was named as one of the tri-captains of the University of Detroit's veteran basketball team.

Kaseta, a 6-8 forward, will share the captain duties with All-American candidates, John Long, of Romulus High fame, and Terry Tyler who led the Titans to their first NCAA playoff berth in over a decade.

While the University of Detroit Basketball cast for 1977-78 will carry a familiar look there are six persons who were not with the team at the NCAA Tournament end of last winter's record-breaking 25-4 season who will be added to that veteran cast.

Among the roster addition is Walter Smith New York-Columbus who have previously started and lettered.

Kaseta missed most of last year with knee surgery, but is healed now. Smith was out of school. Kaseta was a starter as a freshman and sophomore with the Titans.

Two of the roster additions are transfers who were red-shirted last winter, but are now ready to go. They are 6-10 center Eric Agardy of (Plymouth-Salem) who transferred from North Carolina State and 6-8 forward Bill Harris (Detroit-Kettering) who transferred from Western Illinois where he was a starter. Both players have three years of eligibility remaining at U-D.

KEVIN KASETA

The other two newcomers are the freshmen, Arthur Bright (Chicago-Parker) is a 6-6 forward while Kevin Smith (Oak Park-Birmingham Brother Rice) is a 6-1 guard.

Titan Coach Dick Vitale is extremely happy to have the six on hand. "We expect Smith to push hard for the point guard spot vacated by last year's captain, Dennis Boyd, now with the New Orleans Jazz," said Vitale.

"Kaseta was a starter at the time of his injury and was sorely missed," he added. "What the five big kids give us that we lacked last year in size up front. There is no question that they all should help us this winter as we continue to build our basketball reputation," he concluded.

U-D opens its 1977-78 season at Toledo Dec. 1 and faces a stiff December card with a date at St. Bonaventure and a home game against revived Michigan State.

Westland nine victors in invitational tourney

Westland's Senior Babe Ruth All-Stars, playing as the Westland Youth Athletic Association entry, captured an invitational tournament in Madison Heights, including teams from Royal Oak, Dearborn Heights and the host city.

The Westland all-stars claimed the invitational title with a 6-3 victory over Royal Oak as Dave Heilman scattered five hits. Bill Waker singled home Ted Salvadori with the eventual winning run and John Mervyn blasted a two-run homer to give Westland its margin of victory.

In gaining its trophy, Westland defeated Royal Oak, Dearborn Heights and Madison Heights before its rematch with Royal Oak in the finals. The pitching of Heilman, Allan Lux, Jimmy Harrison, Calvin Beer and Dennis Wright proved to be Westland's strong suit.

Hitting laurels went to Greg Lenhoff, Jim Irwin, Mervyn Walker and Salvadori. Individual trophies were awarded to players (all 16 to 18 years old), Manager Allie Abraham and coaches Dick Austin and Jerry Tavormina. The team trophy was accepted by league president Ray O'Brien.

Yanks claim Wayne 'World Series' title

Two sparkling pitching performances and a bombastic hitting attack propelled the Yankees to the "world series" in the wrap-up of the 1977 Wayne Class F Baseball League.

The Yankees downed the Cubs in two straight games, 14-3, and 16-6, to claim the 1977 crown.

The mound combination of Jim Little and Mark Scott held the Cubs to check in both games as each allowed two hits and combined to strike out 14 batters in the 14-3 rout. Although the Cubs kicked a last gasp in the seventh inning of the final game, Scott and Little checked off the uprising.

Little set the Yankee mood in the first game when he blasted a homer in his first appearance and added three more hits.

Richie Browe had three hits to aid the Yankee cause, while only Mike LeBlanc's home run marred an otherwise flawless pitching job by Little and Scott.

Scott, David Howard and Randy Newman each added singles on behalf of the Yankees, while John Hogan and David Weber tagged the losers for doubles and Bobby Dare added a single.

The Yankees broke open a tight game with four runs in the second inning of the championship game and tallied at least twice in every other frame to win going away, 16-6.

Jim Nesbitt smacked a pair of homers and Browe and Little each added a single roundtripper to pace the Yankee assault. Newman chipped in three hits, while Scott and Tim Sabo each had two for the winners.

Jac's bounces back Stays 'alive' in 'C' playoffs

Jac's Lounge rebounded from its opening-round loss for a pair of devastating victories over Woolf Aircraft, 27-10, and over Cobb's Pharmacy, 17-1, to eliminate the losers from the Class C playoffs in Wayne.

The victory over Woolf in a 44-hit slugfest was particularly gratifying for Jac's since Woolf had surprised the regular-season winners in the opening round, 6-5.

But this time Jac's was not to be denied as Bob Wood, Ken Sheldon and Ed Plawewski each had four hits, while Gary Niemzak, Greg Coleman and Bob Moran each added three. Wood and Moran drilled a homer apiece for the winners, while Sheldon led the way with five runs-batted-in.

Ernie Yankeski had a homer and three singles for Woolf, while Randy DeWulf added three hits and Marv Steiner and Terry (Grizzley) Doughty each added two. Coleman was the winning pitcher, while Doughty took the loss.

Coleman evenly spaced seven hits and Jac's banged out 23 hits in its win over Cobb, 17-1. The wily mound ace also contributed four hits himself, while Plawewski and Greg Allen added three each.

Ernie Righetti touched Coleman for a triple, while Bill Rohn was the only Cobb batter with more than one safety.

Cobb's reached the finals with a 9-7 triumph over Woolf as Righetti belted four hits and was helped by two each by Dan and Bill Rohn. Wally Rohn was the winning pitcher. Steiner paved the Woolf way with three, while Doughty and Roger Rhode each had two.

Meanwhile, in a real donnybrook that set the stage for the championship struggle, Fiddle Bar scored four times in the last inning to win a see-saw contest, 14-10, over Club Canton.

Club Canton had tallied twice in the bottom of the sixth to erase a Fiddle lead and knot the score at 10-10.

Gary Truskowski and Jerry Holbrook each contributed a homer and double to pace the Fiddle attack, which was aided by Jim Hubbs' three hits and a pair by Steve Reitz.

Keith Drake's homer had pulled Canton Two into a deadlock, while Gerry Wood banged out three singles. Gil Cox and Dan Sowa each had two hits in a losing cause.

Burghuff handed Fiddle an opening round loss, 6-4, in one of the best-played games of the playoffs.

Dave Conlin slammed a homer and a single to drive in two runs for the winner's margin of victory, while Joe LaFramboise touched loser Dennis Cowell for two hits.

Ron Hayes scattered nine Fiddle hits for the win. Jim Hulls had two safeties for Fiddle.

Wayne 'B' champ is ousted

Playing like anything but the also-rans they were during regular-season action, Unistrut Detroit twice upended Drake's Lounge to become the Wayne Class B Division Softball League playoff champions.

Ron Smith unloaded a pair of clutch doubles to drive in three runs to lead Unistrut to its championship victory, 8-2, over a stunned Drake's squad.

Barry Perich added two hits, while Jeff Hogan scattered seven hits—all singles—off the bats of the regular-season winners.

Drake's had dominated the regular campaign with 14 wins against only four losses, while Unistrut finished just above the 500 mark with 10 wins and 8 losses.

But the playoffs were an entirely different story.

In the opening round, Unistrut throttled Drake's pretty well until a seventh-inning rally made the league champs somewhat respectable in Unistrut's 16-11 win.

The victors had 21 hits and opened the last inning with a 16-4 lead. Smith also had three hits to drive in three runs, while teammate Chuck Talaga laced three singles and a double to knock home five runs.

Hogan, the winning pitcher, added his own cause with two doubles and Ken Lewis and Cass Simpson added to the Unistrut assault with two hits each.

Doug Reid's homer and double, combined with two hits each by Gary Tilton, Mike Plungis and Ron Reid were in vain for Drake's.

After falling to Unistrut in the first round, Drake's had to fight for its playoff life in the second round, but managed a nine-run inning to defeat Knights, 13-10, for another shot at Unistrut.

Once again the regular-season champs were stymied most of the game, but did manage to get to loser Kevin Heaney for nine big runs in the fourth inning.

Knights out hit Drake's, 18-16, but Jim Vergona was able to space the loser's safeties in all except the fourth inning to register his pitching victory.

Vergona also paced the Drake's hitting attack with a home run and two singles to drive in three teammates. Roger Drake added three singles, while Doug Reid and Monty Gabriel each had two. Brendon Heaney had three singles for Knights, while Frank Powers, Norm Swope and Chris Heaney each chipped in two hits.

In the thriller of the playoffs, Kevin Heaney's two-out single in the seventh inning drove in a pair of runs and gave Knights a 7-6 win over Four Seasons in the opening round.

AUTO FACTS

By Jr. Kosin

The horn circuit consists of horns, a relay that reroutes the powerful currents the horns require so that it does not pass through the steering column, a wiring that connects them all. In many recent model cars, there is an additional switch operated by the ignition key to silence the horns when the ignition is off. The horns blow when the driver pushes the horn ring or horn, closing a switch to complete the circuit.

Wayne's Class B softball

Though they lost their winning touch in the playoffs, Drake's Lounge had the best Class B, Second Division, team during the regular season in Wayne's Slo-Pitch League. Members of the team included Curt Wiitanen

Climaxing a most-successful year, the Red Barons were crowned champions of the Dads Athletic Club of Westland T-ball League. The Red Barons compiled a 16-4 record over the campaign. The T-ball program is divided into two divisions — East and West — with five teams in each. The Dads Athletic Club of Westland is a group of people who have banded together to provide baseball and softball programs for boys and girls. One of the club's primary goals this past year was renovation of playing fields at Adams Junior High School.

Club volunteers cleared existing fields, erected backstops and layed out two new fields — which will be available for play next season. Tim Connoile was in charge of the T-ball program.

The Red Barons captured the East Division and went on to become champions by taking a playoff game against West Division champ Shamrocks. Tom Still is manager of the league winners, while the team is coached by Ken Sharp.

cluded two singles and a homer.

Pat Jokak, the losing pitcher, gave up 18 hits while his teammate collected 11, four of those by Paul Tobata. Dave Dietz singled and tripled while Don Sullivan drove in a run with a single for the losers.

In other Red Division games, Quo Vadis struck for six runs in the first inning then was forced to hang on as the Over-the-Hill Gang rallied for four in the first but fell short 8-6.

Bjeck, the winner, gave up 11 hits, including two, a triple and single to losing pitcher Tajak who singled and tripled. Kay Boyiagon and Dietz also checked in with two hits, one of Dietz' going for a roundtripper.

Ken Strickler helped Quo Vadis' cause with three hits and mates Rob Bray and Moriarty each had two hits and two RBIs.

The Over-the-Hill Gang also fell short, 6-4, against the Tasty Tray as a two-run last of the seventh rally failed to make up the difference. Tasty Tray tallied three times in the last inning and winning pitcher Tom Fisher then buckled down.

Sullivan homered off of Fisher who also gave up two hits to Bob Shirion.

Losing pitcher Tajak served up three hits to Dale Fawkes and Len Michalowski.

Pete Petrie held Tasty Tray to six hits as Crown Furniture overpowered their rivals 13-4. Ted Gish, Dan Gabany and Greg McKay each had run-scoring singles for the losers.

Fisher, who was charged with the loss, gave up three hits and two RBIs to Jess Hatten and Petrie and a pair of singles to Steve Ganers.

The Roma's Pedagogues parlayed six runs in the third and 22 hits into an easy 16-8 victory over Westland Florist. Winning pitcher Patrick Nalley gave up five hits, two of those to Gary Robuck. Marty Kaxgier pounded out a two-run homer off of Nalley.

Tony Kierschke was the loser as he was touched for three hits by Steve Slenciwitz, Bruce Calhoun and Frank Forest. Slenciwitz got the only homer of the game.

The Pedagogues wasted a three-run first inning as they dropped a 13-5 decision to the Yardarm Bar earlier in the week. Glenn Siwula, Chuck Britton and Steve Peterna each connected for two hits off of losing pitcher Dave Downs.

Bruce Calhoun singled and doubled for the losers and Frank Forest and Dan Diadiun Jr. each had run-scoring hits off of winning pitcher Gary Kolek.

Johnny's Union 76 silenced Yardarm Bar 14-8 in their final meeting of the season. Winning pitcher Jerry Virei gave up 12 hits, including three to Chuck Britton and Chuck Heddle. Ron Cooper singled and tripled for the losers.

Gary Kocek, the losing pitcher, had his problems with Dave Teets who picked up four hits, including a couple of doubles, a triple and a single. Cliff Orr had a pair of singles and a triple while mate Monte Gobieli finished up with two three-baggers.

Feister Oil exploded for eight runs in the third inning but Arcade Five came back and tied it up at 8-all in the bottom of the inning in their final meeting of the season. A two-run spurt in the fourth and a one-run sixth inning gave Feister's a narrow 11-9 victory.

Jim Taylor and Mark Sala split six of Feister's 16 hits and Rick Wolf singled and homered and drove in three runs for the winners.

Rocky Feister, the winning pitcher, gave up 17 hits, including a couple of "over-the-fence" homers to Jeff Hodgkins and Dennis Finfrook who finished the game with three hits apiece. Chuck Blevins also turned in with three hits.

The Hawks crushed Tasty Tray 23-9 as Tom Bourgeois emerged from the 41-hit slugfest the winning pitcher. Bourgeois gave up three hits to Keith Ruby and Dan Kubany who paced the 16-hit Tasty Tray assault.

Don Monro, the losing pitcher, had his troubles with Sedik who connected for two roundtrippers, tripled and doubled in six runs. Gary Miller also checked in with four hits, including a homer and double while Bourgeois also had three hits for the winners.

Quo Vais rallied for a narrow 7-5 victory over Crown Furniture as Mark Bjeck twirled a 10-hitter. John Kettelut, George Stromski and Bill Upshaw each had two hits for the losers.

Inkster youngsters winners as track invitational hosts

Inkster youngsters did themselves and the city proud recently with a host of first places at the Inkster Invitational Track and Field Meet, held at Westwood Park. The Todd Phillips team was awarded a trophy for sportsmanship.

Participants were divided into three age groups: Class A, 14 and 15 years old; Class B, 12 and 13 years old, and Class C, 10 and 11 years old.

Class A winners from Inkster were Camille Swasey, in the boys 50-yard dash; Larry Brown, boys standing broad jump; Dereck Nelson, boys chinning, and the mixed shuttle relay team of Jerome Scales, Sandra French, Carla White and Kim Hammons.

Others to place among the top three in Class A events were Faris Hammons, Quinthy Matthews, Joe Pickens, Gloria Jefferson, Twyla Chinn and Phyllis Clark.

Class B winners included Wayne Starks, 50-yard dash; Raynard Nelson, chinning; Sharon White, 50-yard dash (girls); Elaine Williams, running long jump, and the mixed shuttle relay team of Anita Hendricks, Michael Tolvier, Karen Clark and Robert Hendricks.

Two 7-run outbursts net win

Two seven-run innings featured an 18-5 triumph last week as Jac's climaxed a near-perfect season to win the Romulus Men's Class B Softball League championship. Jac's won 18 of 19 games.

Bob Widner, Jeff Messler and Ron Pierson each had three hits for the winners, who allowed Crova's five runs in the first inning and then blanked the losers the rest of the game. Bill Sharrow and Don Smhomkel each contributed two hits for Crova's.

D & L Arcade outlasted Walter's Bar, 12-9, to finish in second place. Tom McGhan unloaded two doubles and a single while Ed Bigelow and Gary Eves each had three hits to lead the D & L attack. C.B. Branham had three singles in a losing cause.

Michigan Bell, meanwhile, dropped Baldo's 12-10, on a sixth-inning five-run rally. The victory left Michigan Bell a half-game behind D & L in the final standings. Bob Reed ripped a single, double and triple for the winners, while Dennis Demars added a double and two singles. Ed Dreumo and Pete Tomas each had three hits for Baldo's.
